CI WEEK AT WEST CAMPUS

DMACC West Campus Provost Dr. Tony Paustian was one of the keynote speakers at the recent ci (Celebrate! Innovation) week presentations. Dr. Paustian, whose most recent book is Beware the Purple People Eaters!, spoke on what it takes to lead creative, innovative change today.

Dr. Tony Paustian

Dr. Gene William Poor

Dr. Poor has given hundreds of presentations worldwide and written nine books, including Stick it Up Your Nose! During his presentation, Dr. Poor encouraged the standing-room-only audience to stick a crayon up their nose. West Campus Student Services Specialist Becky Thompson obliged.

John Gaeta

John Gaeta, an Academy Award-winning visual effects designer best known for work on The Matrix film trilogy, talks about the advanced effects method known as “Bulletin Time” during his ciWeek keynote address.

Daymond John, a member of ABC-TV’s Shark Tank and creator of the fashion brand “FUBU” (For Us By Us), spoke of successes and challenges as a young entrepreneur as he created a lifestyle that was neglected by other clothing companies. John told of taking a second mortgage out on his mom’s home, ripping out all of the furniture and replacing it with industrial sewing machines so that “FUBU” merchandise could be made. The “FUBU” founder is now worth as estimated $250 million. He has written two books: Display of Power: How FUBU Changed a World of Fashion, Branding and Lifestyle and The Brand Within: How We Brand Ourselves, From Birth to the Boardroom.

Speaker, author and educator Adam Carroll delivers a keynote presentation at ciWeek on “Why Your Friends Matter: The Secret Ingredient to Making it Happen.” Scores of other speakers from around the country spoke during this, the fourth ciWeek at the DMACC West Campus. In many of the presentations, students had to stand or sit on the floor to hear presentations on soccer balls that generate electricity, or rebuilding American’s space program, or protecting ourselves from cyber criminals or building works of art at LEGOLAND.

PIONEERS CONNECTION

The April Pioneers meeting will be this Thur., March 14. We will have a very interesting program, "Two Jays Iowa Corn Whiskey." E. Broadbent from Broadbent Distillery will tell us of their production of whiskey. Broadbent Distillery is located in Norwalk. Sorry, but no samples will be available.

We will also be discussing the garage sale and we desperately need your input. Please come and be a part of a fun group of former DMACC employees who work hard to raise money for scholarships for deserving students. At our February meeting, we honored our veterans and had a lovely lunch in the Bistro.

We are looking for officers for the coming year. If you are interested, please call me at 515-331-2370.

Dr. Lyla S. Maynard, President
