ADVANCED MANUFACTURING CENTER OPEN HOUSE

Rachel Stogdill

Eleven-year-old Rachel Stogdill of Des Moines tries her hand in a virtual welding demonstration while David Elsloo, Vermeer Welding Educator, monitors her progress. The virtual welding demonstration was held during an open house at the DMACC Ankeny Campus Advanced Manufacturing Center as part of National Manufacturing Day celebration. Iowa Governor Terry Branstad had proclaimed the week of September 30 as Iowa Manufacturing Week. It offered an opportunity to highlight the important contribution that Iowa companies are making to grow Iowa's economy and help communities prosper.

CHALK IT UP ON THE ANKENY CAMPUS

Sophie Bass

DMACC Ankeny Campus second-year Liberal Arts student Sophie Bass kneels next to her Chalk It Up drawing, titled “Eye Tree,” located between Bldg. #2 and #4 on the Ankeny Campus. Bass received the People’s Choice Award and Best Composition Award for her artwork. DMACC students used chalk to create artwork focusing on the country of Kosovo, DMACC’s international year for 2013–14.

DNA EXPERIMENTS ON THE ANKENY CAMPUS

DMACC Ankeny Campus student Tasha Millard of Des Moines examines a sample of her own DNA collected during an experiment conducted in Lunch and Learn class held on the Ankeny Campus. Biotechnology Professor Julie Gonzalez led the students through the DNA extraction and also talked about rewarding careers in the biotechnology profession. Millard is a second-year Marketing student and President of the Ankeny Campus Chapter of Phi Beta Lambda. Gonzalez also led Carroll students in similar DNA experiments.

PIONEERS CONNECTION

HISTORY COMMITTEE

Carroll Bennett and his committee met in the Library at the Ankeny Campus to go through the archive of photo prints that have been collected over the years. DMACC will be celebrating its 50th Anniversary in 2016 and our Pioneer group will be active starting with events in 2015. We have been working on getting written and audio interviews posted to the web about the early years at DMACC.

FUNDRAISING COMMITTEE

The Fundraising Committee, headed by Harlan Giese and Marcia Johnson, will meet in the conference room of Bldg. #22, on Mon, Oct. 21 at 2 p.m. to discuss ideas for future fundraising events.

Dee Johnson, Past President, Pioneers
