BOONE JOURNALISM CAMP

A player steps up to contest an opponent’s shot. Kids and adults alike attended the tournament.

Former DMACC journalism professor Jan LaVille (left) and 12-year-old Claire Smith of Boone County each hit two marbles together in an attempt to recreate the sound of a cricket frog at the DMACC Boone Campus Journalism Camp. During the camp, attendees spent their time outdoors kayaking, observing wildlife at the Ledges State Park, visiting the Iowa State University Exercise Science lab and more. Throughout the week, the campers worked as reporters, gathering information (continued on next page)

MANUFACTURING & WELDING PANEL DISCUSSION AT SOUTHRIDGE

DMACC first-year welding student Nick Peterson of Des Moines “welds” on a virtual welder under the guidance of Vermeer Senior Training Specialist David Elsloo. The simulation occurred at an open house and panel discussion on manufacturing and welding at the DMACC Southridge Center. Speakers included Brent Weil of the Manufacturing Institute and American Welding Society President Dave Landon.

Brent Weil (left) of the Manufacturing Institute and Iowa Advanced Manufacturing Consortium Project Manager and panel moderator Stephanie Oppel take part in the panel discussion at the Southridge Center.

DMACC Welding student James Cleveringa (left) and DMACC Pathway Navigator Megan Snook Lautner also took part in the panel discussion on manufacturing and welding. Cleveringa, who spent four years in the military, said every welding certification he receives make him a more valuable employee. Kathy Anderson of the Association of Business and Industry and Tina Hoffman of Home Base Iowa also participated in the panel discussion.

American Welding Society President Dave Landon spoke at the Southridge Center and led a tour of the Iowa Welding Institute at DMACC. Landon says there will be more than 151,000 new welding jobs available in the United States over the next ten years as many of the current welders retire.

IMPORTANT PIioneer EVENTS IN AUGUST:
The Pioneers will be holding one last Garage Sale on Fri., Aug. 14 from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sat.,
Aug. 15 from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. in the Bldg. #13 Automotive lab. We will be setting up starting on Mon., Aug. 10 and your help will be deeply appreciated. A sign-up sheet was circulated at the July meeting but you can call Shirley Muelenthaler at Home: 964-3540 or cell: 321-9762 to let her know that you will be able to help and when. Our August meeting will be to finalize things for the sale.

EVERYONE WHO WORKS WILL RECEIVE A DMACC 50TH ANNIVERSARY tee shirt and the privilege to purchase merchandise pre-sale.

ASK ME FOR FALL SEMESTER 2015
We will again be helping students to find their classrooms and answer questions on the Ankeny Campus during the first two days of class. Contact Mike Perry at (515) 238-8279 to volunteer.
Daytime and evening hours are available.

PLEASE SAY YOU WILL BE ABLE TO HELP AT ONE OR BOTH OF THESE EVENTS.

NOTICE: By now you should have or will be receiving a letter asking for your donation to the Student Assistance program. With the ending of the Garage Sale, this will be our ONLY source of income for the Pioneer group. Your participation in sending whatever you can, will be gratefully received. We are only planning to ask you ONCE to help out.

ANY AND ALL DONATIONS WILL ASSIST OUR STUDENTS & BE APPRECIATED.

If you haven’t “liked” the “DMACC Pioneers” on Facebook yet, please do so. Thank you.
