Look at all these mistakes Stanley. How stupid can you be?

I don't know Ollie. How stupid do you want me to be?

What this paper needs is more sex. Sex sells. By the way, do you know where I can buy some?

I don't know what's going on. Maybe I'll just sit here until everything works itself out.
Lowery Defends Teacher—Programs Cutbacks At DMACC

By Linda Tabor

"Enrollment is not down. In fact, it is up by 354 students and with an expectant increase of 300 more for next fall," commented Paul Lowery, president of Area XI.

In a telephone interview with the reporter, Lowery explained why Area XI is cutting back to meet student needs and not raise tuition fees any more than necessary. He pointed out that even though enrollment is up, the fundings for the college itself aren't. The college receives $1000 per student from the State Controller. Even though the enrollment is up, the State will not match the funds. This means that for this year and next, the college will be shorted some $600,000 in state funding.

Since the college will be so far behind in funds, they must cut back in other areas. Some of these cutbacks for Area XI include not hiring a full-time librarian for the Boone Campus. The library will remain staffed as it is with a certified librarian from Ankeny coming up two days a week. Four teachers were dismissed from programs that were going to be terminated anyway due to low or no enrollment. Five instructors in C.E. at the Ankeny Campus had a choice of reducing their work one hour a day or taking off the month of December (which they decided to do since enrollment was down for November.) The nurse at the Ankeny Campus was cut from an 8:00-4:30 day to other two hours from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. or later and are due by 9:00 a.m. the next school day.

The financial destination of Area XI remains somewhat of a mystery. The only thing that can be done is cut every corner possible and watch where the money goes. The Bear Facts plans on informing you students on these matters since it concerns everyone.

CUT IN PROGRAMS

The only programs that will be cut are an A.A. program in insurance and the dietary technician program. These programs were attempted for five years and failed to get off the ground. In fact, the dietary program had only four students this year. All other programs will remain as long as enrollment can be justified. It is not economical to run an entire program for only three or four students.

ADDITIONS

Despite the financial cutback, Ankeny will be expanding their campus. The funding for this is from a bill that was voted on by the public in November's election. New building include a student services area with a lounge, counselors offices, and a gymnasium for physical education. A second building is being planned for the admissions, financial aid, data processing, and supportive services departments. These buildings would allow for expansion of the library which needs shelving, room for 70,000 books. The board would also like to build a greenhouse for the horticulture department.

Library Policy Changes

The library is here for you to use. It is more than a storehouse for books; it is a resource center for information. What every information needs is we on the library staff are glad to help you in any way we can.

Library Hours (Changes in summer hours will be posted.)

7:45 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Mon.-Fri.
6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m. Mon.-Thur.
6:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m. Sunday

Loan Periods

Stack books may be checked out for two weeks. Reserve materials may be checked out for a half hour from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. or later and are due by 9:00 a.m. the next school day.

Cassette tape players may be checked out overnight on the same basis as reserve material.

Renewals

Regular materials may be renewed once, provided no other student has placed a hold on the material. Reserve materials and tape players will not be renewed. If you keep these materials beyond the time they due, you will be assessed the appropriate fine.

In order that all students will have an equal opportunity to use the library materials, the above rules and regulations have been established.

B.W. Editor

My penmanship has something to be desired. Neatness. There were two terrific blunders in the last issue, do to my poor penmanship. Many of the headlines and captions are written by me and then the printing company must decipher my handwriting. The first mistake was the issue number. It was not issue 5, but actually number 6.

The second mistake, which was more noticeable was the Patty Harris fiasco. Everyone, including myself, knows that her name is Harris, not Marris.

I must accept the blame for both mistakes as they were both due to my poor penmanship.

I am making a career out of retractions, I must also admit to an erroneous error that I made concerning the boy's H.C. basketball game. I needed an eye catching headline. I got one alright. The only trouble, however, was that the game didn't go into overtime.

It has been brought to my attention that several faculty members are upset about quotes that they have made that were published in the last edition of the Bear Facts.

Many of our stories come from students who are in the basic reporting class. Their stories are submitted to me for consideration to be used in the college paper. These students may have not made this clear to these faculty members. However, if any quotes are out of context or defamatory, I will be more than willing to write a retraction, since I am becoming an expert at it.

A reporter, however, has the prerogative to quote people - if the quotes are accurate. If anyone has a complaint about this matter, I would hope that you would come and talk to me instead of using indirect methods. If we made a mistake, we'd like to know about it.

But Seriously Folks...

By Bradford Bond

Usually, when a columnist has nothing coherent to write about he just writes about anything and everything. So here it is.

If the Surgeon General determines that a mother's milk is cancerous, where will they put the warning?

Doug Biggs has told me that he has discovered a way to grow a hairy chest. He says the method is for three days you must wear a cow chip on your chest. Unfortunately, it only works on women.

I was at the Trestle one night and thought that I'd ask a girl for the last dance. The last song came on so I walked over to the table where she was sitting. "Would you like to dance?" I asked.

"What is the song?"

Just then the name of the song rang out. "Would you like to get drunk and (the word was deleted refers to a sexual act that is unmentionable in this column). The look that she gave me was not exactly inviting so I decided it was about time to hit the road.

We should have some very interesting stories coming up in the future editions of the "Bear Facts". Such as Ames Disco-Bar review, vacation spots for summer travelers, Drug abuse survey, and future plans of many of our J.C. students. So keep in touch.

One thing that I have noticed is that many people say, 'Hey, I'm a taxpayer, you can't do this to me.' Well, have you ever heard a politician say that?

One final note: Did you know that one out of every three marriages end in divorce? But what is worse is that the other two end in death. Think about it.
Spring Fling
By Bruce Waterbury

What better way to top off an afternoon of baseball than with a few kegs of beer. The Phi Beta lambda is sponsoring a Spring Fling celebration April 23, after a Bear's doubleheader with Clarinda. It will be held in the American Legion cabin which is across from the baseball park. The doubleheader starts at 1:30. There will be 2-3 kegs, plenty of popcorn, and softdrinks are available. There is no band but there will be music. A small cover charge will be required at the door.

Student Senate Notes

The Boone Campus Student Senate has tentatively set May 7, as the date for a pig roast and dance. The pig roast will probably be held at last year's site, the Episcopal center shelter house northwest of Boone. As of yet, a band has not been selected for the dance. Also mentioned was a collection box for pop cans. The money collected from returning these cans would go to the Student Senate for future activities. Plans for a student entertainment variety show are also in the making. This would be a public fund-raising event and any student or faculty member could participate. It was also brought up that the stereo needs to be repaired and a new pool table should be purchased for the lounge.

Pie Update
By Donna Bappe

The pie throwing epidemic that struck the Boone Campus has it come to a halt or is it just suspended? Our dear Rec Club, who has slugged 10 victims with cream pies, has made twenty-four dollars. The price of a pie started out at $10.00 payment. Who looked the best in a cream pie? Indy Pio's direct hit, the Dean and Bill Alley who can't go unmentioned since he did go through two pies.

OFFICIAL HITS
Sherry Roper and Bill Ryan were the only two official victims of the $10.00 payment. Who looked the best in a cream pie is a toss-up between John Lipe and his little gun. Cindy Pio's direct hit, the Dean and Bill Alley who can't go unmentioned since he did go through two pies.

PIE INSURANCE
Two people bought insurance from Bill Sullivan, who in turn refused to disclose their names.

Several Rec Club members have left Boone for their job sites this quarter. The hope that the hit man has moved on with them is false. The hit man has just taken a temporary two week vacation but will return in the near future.

The $24.00 from the pies plus other fund-raising money will be used for the coming conventions and other activities such as Todd Buck's last Rec Club show. The next convention in Fort Dodge, March 12-14, will be entertained by Bill Ally's 5-man Country Western band.

One last comment for everyone, mainly Smitty and Abbott—"Don't make any wrong moves and watch it!"
One Of Our Bears Is Missing

The "BEAR" has been kidnapped. The giant stuffed bear which appears at all of DMACC'S home basketball games, was kidnapped and is being held for ransom.

Saturday, February 23, the Honey Bears (cheerleaders) discovered the bear missing just before the home basketball game with the Sioux Empire team.

RANSOM NOTE

During halftime, Steve Jorgenson, found a ransom note underneath the clock on the scorers bench.

"The note was sloppily written. It had a lot of misspelled words. It looked like it came from the J.C. secretarial pool," recalls Jorgenson.

"The note informed Steve to read it out loud on the P.A. system and to have the cheerleaders plead to the crowd for its safe return.

"We had to get down on our hands and knees and beg to the crowd, remarks Donna Bappe. I hope we get him back. He probably misses his corner."

ANOTHER NOTE

Sometime Sunday, the Bearmapper taped a ransom note in front of the lounge. It stated, ATTENTION: CHEERLEADERS Our compliments to you for completing step #1 in the recovery of the Bear. Now for step #2, "Please leave a jar of honey and 12 dozen oranges in a brown paper bag at the gym where the bear was last seen. This food will keep him alive and well over the quarter break. Do not notify the authorities or else you can kiss your Bear goodbye! We will keep in touch.

THE BEARMAPPERS

As of this writing the whereabouts of the Bear is still unknown and so is the identity of the Bearmapper. However, the cheerleaders are optimistic that it will be returned unharmed.

DMACC Students Win Scholarship

Linda Tabor is a recipient of the Boone Elks Lodge Scholarship for 1979-1980 at the Boone Campus, Des Moines Area Community College where she is a freshman student majoring in Liberal Arts. Linda, the daughter of Frank and Jacqueline Tabor, R. R. 4, Boone, is a 1979 graduate of Grand Community School, Boxholm.

HIGH SCHOOL

Throughout high school she was active in pep, marching and concert bands; girls and mixed chorus; student director of Jr. Class Play; member of speech club; and was on the high school honor roll. She also served as co-editor of the Bobcat By Lines and in her junior year served as co-editor of the school annual. She is a member of the Society of Distinguished American High School students as well as published in the Biannual and National Anthology of High School Poetry. In 1979 Linda was noted as a State of Iowa Scholar.

COLLEGE

Linda is currently a member of the Bear Facts publication staff at the Boone Campus, DMACC and she is very interested in science studies and related areas with an emphasis in the medical fields.

Phoebe Savonell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Savonell, will be a graduate of the Boone Campus, Des Moines Area Community College, where she has been on the Dean's List each quarter of her two years. Phoebe is well known in Boone. She is employed at Hiil's Complete Service where she does light mechanic work, pumps gas, and washes cars, but her interests and leisure activities are more on the artistic side. She draws, paints in both oil and water color, does batik, macrame and needlepoint. She says though, "My favorite is pottery, especially sculpture." She is also a creditable amateur photographer.

Phoebe is attending the Boone Campus on a two years Boone Elks Lodge Club Scholarship. She says, "The program I am enrolled in is giving me a basic background to preen me for a four-year university. Upon receiving my A.A. degree, I will then be ready to aim toward my specific goal of teaching -- elementary special education." She has been accepted for fall enrollment at the University of Northern Iowa. Selected to Who's Who in American Junior Colleges, when asked what she'd like to see at the Boone Campus, Phoebe replied, "A wider variety of classes." No doubt that reflects her own many and varied interests. Phoebe Savonell is a young adult Boone can be proud of.
April Fool's Day

Unique Holiday

April Fools Day is probably one of the most unique holidays in the world. You can celebrate this holiday if you want, but chances are someone will celebrate it on you if you're not careful.

April Fools Day has been observed in practically every nation in the world. The true origin of this day has never been determined. The custom of April Fools Day was brought to the New World by early settlers from England. Some old pranks used in the past to celebrate this day were such things as putting a brick on an old hat. Ryan claims that his research into local geologic structure indicates that the campus lies directly on the volcano. Ryan warns that every minute is of vital importance to the United States. Any action against the United States is a direct attack against the United States and we shall use force to suppress any insurgence by the United States. Some of the more modern April Fool pranks are using the telephone (prank calls) turning someone's license plates upside down, or sending a friend or a relative a card or letter from a long, lost and forgotten friend who is coming to town next week and needs a place to stay.

FAMOUS FRANKS

In Hawaii, a disc jockey caused a sensation by broadcasting that because the bill for statehood had been passed the islanders taxes for the preceding year would be refunded. This caused much excitement. Newpaper offices, radio stations and the Internal Revenue Bureau were bombarded with telephone calls.

FREE TRIP

Francois Rabalais, wishing to go to Paris from Warsalles on April 1, had only one problem, no money. He then labeled some bottles, "Potion for the Royal Family of France," and succeeded in being seized and transported to Paris, just as he had planned. Of course, he was beheaded when he got there but that's another story.

WRONG PLACE AT THE WRONG TIME

In 1660, several hundred Londoners received invitations to the annual ceremony of washing the Lions at the Tower of London. When they arrived there was no ceremony, just several hundred bewildered Londoners. There never was a ceremony that day, it was April Fool's Day.

April 1 is not only April Fool's Day but also Intolerance day, established to confine intolerance to the most appropriate day of the year, April Fool's Day.

ISU Plans Takeover of Boone J.C.

Iowa State authorities today called for the consolidation of Boone's Junior College (DMACC) with Iowa State. In a speech over the college's public address system, President Robert Parks declared that if any of Boone's faculty or administration have any intentions of not complying with the consolidation, he would immediately fire them, which was what he planned to do anyway, for obvious reasons.

DEAN FIGHTS BACK

Dear, Hamilton, in an exclusive interview states, "History has shown us that no lasting peace or coexistence can be gained by complying with threats such as this." Carefully controlling the surprised anger in his voice, the Dean went on to say, "I've had such a conflict of obligation toward the J.C. students and faculty. He also said that he would defend the college until the very end because, "I just remodeled my office."

ROTC MAY BE USED

Meanwhile, I.S.U. ROTC sources have said that if the present crisis continues without some sign of easing, there might be a 10% increase in the number of students called into active ROTC duty.

We don't mean to imply there may be a war, one Captain said, "we must be ready for what happens." Only a handful of people remember the time back in '65 when I.S.U. tried to take over the Boone campus. As one old timer put it, "Hee, Hee, there they are, they've been taken over by the thousands to take over the campus but they didn't because they couldn't find the campus.

STATE OF EMERGENCY

With little chance of a summit between Parks and Hamilton, tension of the ultimatum grows everyday. President Carter has called for a State of Emergency, in an attempt to get as many votes from Iowa without campaigning, as he has done with the Iran Embargo. President Carter says, "Iowa State is of vital importance to the United States. Any action against Iowa State is a direct attack against the United States and we shall use force to suppress any insurgence by the Boone J.C."

Meanwhile, back at the home front, surveys have been given to I.S.U. students asking for their response to the consolidation between the two colleges. Of the 500 students polled, 499 thought Boone's Farm tasted good and went along with the consensus.

HAMILTON'S LAST HURRAH

Despite ROTC troop movement in the Boone area, Dean Hamilton said, "We will right on the parking lot, in the halls, in the classrooms and if necessary, in the streets. We will prepare ourselves for whatever may come and then they will way of us, 'This was their finest hour.' "

Volcano Under DMACC

By Dale Gillet

"In less than two years our campus will be buried under three thousand feet of volcanic ash," predicts Bill Ryan, geology instructor at DMACC in a 1,200 word telegram sent to Governor Ray. Ryan claims that his research into local geologic structure indicates that the campus lies directly on the volcano. Ryan warned that every minute is of vital importance to the United States. Any action against the United States is a direct attack against the United States and we shall use force to suppress any insurgence by the United States.

Some people, however, are taking Ryan's prediction lightly. As Ryan was also the guy who thought that Haleys colt was just a beserk humming bird with its tail feathers on fire.
Dear Bruce,

There is this creepy-looking guy who follows me everywhere. He is a peeping Tom and probably a sex maniac. I fear for my safety. What can I do?

Kathy

Dear Bruce,

I have met this woman who has absolutely nothing except money. She is ugly, overweight and senile. Should I marry her?

Mike

Of course not! You should not marry a girl just for her money, you should marry her because you love her. By the way, could I have her address?

Detective Grant was escorting a dangerous, ruthless prison escapee, Nick Brandon, back to prison. But along the way, Brandon managed to overpower a sleeping and slightly drunk Detective Grant. Brandon took the Detective’s handgun and lucky rabbits foot. Brandon then demanded a box of brown shoe polish and a parachute to escape with.

"Give him whatever he asks for," pleaded the nervous Detective.

After ten minutes the captain appeared with a parachute and one box of brown shoe polish. Brandon then donned on the parachute and jumped. Detective Grant, however, just sat there and smiled.

Why isn’t Detective Grant worried about his prisoner?

Why would anyone worry? Detective Grant and his prisoner were riding on an ocean liner. Why Brandon asked for a parachute to escape with is still a mystery. But what is more baffling is that he asked for brown shoe polish when he was wearing white tennis shoes.

Famous Quotes
By Some Not So Famous People

By Linda Tabor

Did you ever wonder just what goes through the minds of many of the administration that you stumble into any time of the day? The following may answer some questions about what they really do to keep themselves around the building.

Sandy Johnson: "Do you want to talk to the one in charge or the one who knows what’s going on?"

Mr. Hughes: "Even if you’re on the right track, you’ll get run over if you just sit there."

Mr. Abbott: "Things do not change—we do."

Mr. Alley: "It isn’t the mountains ahead that wear you out, it’s the grain of sand in your shoe."

Mr. Berge: "Life is like an onion, you peel off one layer at a time and sometimes you weep."

Mr. Silverhorn: "When I works, I works hard; when I site, I site loose; and when I thinks, I fall asleep."

(These quotes from numerous sources are not meant to incriminate against any individual. Without them, where would us students be.)
You're under arrest! The words made my blood run cold. It all started when I tried to cash in my collection of returnable beer cans. The cashier eyed me as I plugged in the four sacks of cans. It is terribly embarrassing to return hundreds of empty beer cans.

"Excuse me Miss, I came here to buy two onions and a sponge when I spotted these four sacks of cans lying in the ditch. I felt that it is my patriotic duty to help keep my country clean so I brought them here."

The cashier immediately called the store manager who in turn recruited four heavy set stock boys. After a fierce struggle, the five employees wrestled me to the floor.

"What do you have to say for yourself boy?"

It was very difficult for me to talk to him while he was sitting on my chest. I am just trying to conserve our ecological systems by returning these recyclable cans. If man continues consuming the world's natural resources at his present rate, our whole ecological system will crumble, thus leading to man's eventual demise. Ivian's existence will...

"Enough of that bull kid," growled the manager. "Don't you realize how mad it makes us when some nobody brings in hundreds of returnable cans. We have to count, clean and store all of them. Not to mention all the crickets and cockroaches that hide in them."

Just then three patrol cars screeched into the store parking lot. Six policemen stormed into the store with their guns aimed at my head.

"Don't move a muscle kid," barked the Sargent. "What did the coppers throw you into the slammer for?"

"I was arrested for trying to return 400 returnable beer cans at one time."

"Disgusting! screamed the Murderer. Let me out of here."

"What did the coppers throw you into the slammer for, quizzed the Murderer."

"I was arrested for trying to return 400 returnable beer cans at one time.

"Disgusting! screamed the Murderer. Let me out of here. Don't let me stay in here alone with this lunatic."

The guard on duty let him out and placed him in another cell. I'm glad I wasn't given the chance to corrupt the nice Seinfeld.

The courtroom was crowded but none of my friends were there, just irate store managers. I eyed the jury. It was composed entirely of women, all wearing Hy-Vee smocks and white hair. Each one had a mole on her face which a large clump of hair grew from. I knew then that I was in big trouble.

The Judge read the charge: "George Schmuck, you are charged with the atrocious crime of returning four hundred cases of cans. How do you plead?"

"Like this," I said as I got down on my hands and knees and started crying. "I didn't mean to do it. I have never done anything dishonest in my life."

"Enough!" shouted the Judge. "I mean how do you plead, guilty or not guilty?"

"Temporary insanity your Honor."

The jury then left to make their decision. Their conferen
ted only two minutes. The Judge then cleared his voice and read, "The jury finds the defendant, George Schmuck, guilty. Thus, with the power invested in me I sentence you to fifteen years of hard labor at the national Hy-Vee warehouse for storing returnable cans and bottles."

So here I sit amid millions and millions of cans and bottles. I spend many hours trying to figure out where I went wrong. Maybe I should have returned each can separately.
Parking Problems at DMACC

By Kava Rezania

Parking System at Boone Campus: Let's face the Realities

Nothing is perfect, not even the parking system in Boone Campus. Although the majority seems to be satisfied with the parking here, still there are complaints and there are things to be done.

Sandy Johnson, one of the secretaries says, "I'm satisfied, I have no complaints." But Janet Remstad, student, Cindy Pio, Psychology instructor, and Louise Payton, the librarian, agree that there isn't enough light at night in the parking lots. Although Dean Hamilton said there isn't any new plans for the parking system, he pointed out that, "As soon as we get the equipment, we will take care of the lights in the parking area.

According to Chris Carney, the treasurer, 505 students purchased parking stickers this year. "This number has increased compared to last year," Chris said. She continued that, "There are fewer parking fines this year. The reason might be because we publicize the rules more than before.

The money from fines help the funds for maintaining the parking lot. According to Mrs. Carney, "Because of the shortage in budget, the janitors are the ones who give the tickets." Mrs. Carney thinks that, "there is a good parking system at Boone Campus. We haven't had any robberies," she said.

But it would be interesting to know that recently a radio stereo was stolen from Fred Weinerman's car. Fred, who is a student at Boone Campus said, "Although my car was locked, I didn't do anything about it. It was my fault because I could have taken the radio out of the car." Dean Hamilton who was aware of this stealing, mentioned that, "In these situations the only thing we can do is call the police." He also said, "Because of the small size of the college, we don't have any security here.

Mrs. Remstad pointed that, "This is a public place and the college is not responsible for protecting properties of the students.

Regardless to all the problems we are facing about the parking system here, Jeff Grady, Vicky Ehris, Greg Green, Cindy Pio, and many more of us are happy that a good job is being done with shoveling the snow off the parking lots; we are also happy that we don't have to do a lot of walking from the lots to the buildings; but seriously folks, how many of us protect and respect the laws? And how many of us students park in the parking lots? The place that we are supposed to park ???????

Spring Schedule... Could Be Better

By Linda Tabor

The schedule for spring classes at Boone leaves very little to be desired. Many students juggle class schedules for weeks before making final decisions on classes that would just fill in the spaces between needed classes. This was necessary to keep from dropping to part-time students and loosing financial aid.

The time slot from 1:10-2:00 appears to be the most popular for M-W-F classes. Twelve classes meet at this time with two being in biological science, three in business, four in English, one in math, two in physical ed., and one in sociology. Problems arise with these classes when students sign for business course, a math course, and even a science course (which requires a two hour lab.),

Eight classes meet at 9:00-9:50, 10:00-10:50, and 12:10-1:00. Ten classes grab the 11:00-11:50 slot. Having these classes in the morning may be an advantage to many students who wish to go from 9:00-1:00.

The most popular classes this quarter are Biology of Organisms, Economics, Composition III, Intermediate Algebra, General Psychology, Music Appreciation, Outdoor Recreation, Introduction to Sociology, and Fundamentals of Speech. All of these are key requirements for transferring to a four-year institution.

Five night classes meet on Tuesday from 7:00-10:00, three on Thursday, two on Monday, two on Wednesday, one on M-R, and one on W-T.

This may sound like a bunch of hogwash to the first year student who has a second or third chance at getting into a class, but to the sophomore it's like giving a pig with lock jaw a dental check-up.

Do you like to go to school at 8:00? For these early spring risers there is Fundamentals of Speech, College Physics III, General Psychology, Survey of Anatomy and Physiology, and College Prep writing. Quite a variety for this sleepy time interval.

Overall there are only two biology courses that need all to have prerequisites, three business, two journalism, seven English, two history, one literature, one math, two music, nine physical ed., one recreation, two sociology, and 4 speech. If the student transferring in, there isn't really a pleasing variety to choose from.

The Spring quarter may be bad for many students prone to "Spring Fever" or the "baseball flu." The lack of colorful class choices in all areas may lead to student boredom and/or few students attending some courses.

Meanwhile, The Play Is Still On

By Bruce Waterbury

For a few days it appeared that the DMACC Drama Department would not put on the play, "Meanwhile, Back on the Couch," in the Spring quarter. However, a hasty recruiting effort by Mr. Schaeffer and several drama members recruited enough actors to keep the play alive.

"Mr. Schaeffer, play director, is very happy with the play's progress so far. "It's going great! I am most pleased with the progress that we are making. The cast enthusiasm is enthusiastic and the actors are anguing the characters quite well."

The only problem concerning the play is the amount of time that the cast has for rehearsal. "I am confident that we will be ready," remarked Schaeffer. Mr. Schaeffer is so pleased that he has been singing during rehearsals. As of this writing, no record company talent scouts have contacted him.

CAST

Bruce Waterbury as Victor Karleen a psychiatrist, and would-be novelist in a lot of trouble.

Phoebe Savonell as Gabrielle Wingate, Victor's fiancee.

The Crazy Crew as Jolly Jovorek, a very friendly (too friendly) neighbor of Victor who has her eye on looking Victor.

TRYOUTS

Classes conflicting with play practice, ruined the chances of Bette Bushore, Gay Bullock, Polly Jenson, Tim Maybe and Bette Bushore. One crazy patient after another

DMACC students and faculty can have free admission to the performance if they have a current activity card.

The performance is scheduled for Friday, April 18 at 7:30 in the Boone J.C. auditorium.

Need something to read in between classes? Or maybe something to fill in lonely hours during the evening? Why not snuggle up in a cozy chair or plop yourself against a tree in the park and read a novel? Novels can take you from dull and dingy soone to far off England, or China, or into the future, and even into the past. Actually, there are fewer enjoyable ways to get a history lesson than reading Gone with the Wind.

Several books on and off of the bestseller list for paperbacks are:

The Stand by Stephen King: a gripping novel of the horror of the world being wiped out by a flu epidemic. This book is stomach-churning, nerve-rattling, and spine-chilling. It's for anyone that understands the need for survival and existence.

Evergreen by Selva Alain: the life of Anna Friedman who fled to America for a better life. This moving story covers three generations from Nazi death camps to New York.

Sisters and Strangers by Helen Van Slyke: three sisters raised to go their different ways. They find themselves back home for their parents 50th wedding anniversary to discover that they are ashamed of their parents who have failed to advance socially and economically. Helen Van Slyke is also author of The Evild Blessing and Always is not Forever.

Scrupules by Judith Krantz: This novel is for the mature from a fat, ugly girl of Boston to heiress of millions and owner of the famous Scriupules is Eily. Eily was born in Boston of the Winthrop family and raised by a nanny. She became an obese girl that was sent to France to become a lady. That she does and more.

DMACC Music Department

By John Humenston

The busy music department of the Des Moines Area Community College is a diverse part of the Boone Campus.

The department consists of two classes and many different ways of displaying talent. In the classroom, two courses are offered to students, both of which deal with the theme of music. Musical education is the major component of music that are stressed in this class. Talent in the music department can be displayed in the areas of piano, voice, and choir. The piano and voice lessons are privately taught by musical director, Jan Betten. The lessons are an extra cost to the student, and each student is started according to their musical background and whether they have had musical lessons previously. Chorus is the final quarter is when the choir takes its annual trip, which the last few years has been to New York City. The trip is six days of fun and travel.

Leader of the Pack

Jan Betten, musical director, is a graduate of Missouri University, with a double major in vocal and instrumental music. Betten has also done graduate work at Iowa State, Indiana, and Michigan universities, and her first teaching position was at the junior high level in Ogden, Iowa. Besides the Boone Campus music department, Mrs. Betten is keeping busy by teaching instrumental lessons at Boone High School.

The music department enables a student to learn about music and its history. Music Appreciation is a humanities credit that deals with the history of music from Bach to Bernstein. This three credit course breaks down the different musical areas of piano, voice, and choir. The main performance for the school year is the annual trip, which the last few years has been to New York City. The trip is six days of fun and travel.

DMACC Journalism Opportunities are Here

By Carla Silver

Yes! Boone DMACC does have a journalism department. A person seeking their degree in journalism may get their basic classes in this field and at the same time receive an Associate of Arts degree at the Boone Campus.

Journalism Courses

Boone offers three main courses in journalism: Introduction to Mass Communications; Basic Reporting; Newspaper Layout and Design. The course Introduction to Mass Communications concerns the communication media and their application to the mass media; the mass communication process; characteristics and responsibilities of the mass media; and media-related professional operations. Basic Reporting consists of news judgment and observing, organizing, writing, and editing for the mass media. It moves from simple information gathering, analysis, and writing techniques to different kinds of leads, interpreting the information, giving cause/effect relationships, and different styles of writing. The college newspaper and design class teaches the principles of layout and design of printed matter, clip fitting, type selection, display, illustration, printing processes.

The instructor of all the journalism classes is Mr. Bob Ivers. Another course he instructs is the principles of Photography, and Photographic Techniques. The ability to take photographs is essential to all prospective journalists.

Practical Experience

Students participating in these Journalism classes are given the opportunity to work on the school newspaper and yearbook. At the present time there are five students that put together the newspaper, yearbook. This includes: writing the stories, typing, writing headlines, and working in the darkroom developing and printing pictures. To top it off, these five students must do all of the layout, proofing and editing of the newspaper. The yearbook students who work on the yearbook do approximately the same thing with the exception that there are only three students on the staff.

Most students attending the Boone J.C. plan to transfer to a four year university to receive their degree. The major areas of journalism are newspaper, magazine, radio and TV, advertising, public information, media management, international communications, science writing, visual communication, and the teaching of journalism.

Anyone can say they don't care for journalism but everything we read is produced by the print media, anything we see or hear is in some form of communication media. It controls our lives.

Psychology Department Very Popular At DMACC

By Jeff Adams

The Psychology Department here at the Boone Junior Community College seems to be one of the most popular areas of education for local DMACC students, Cindy Pio is the course instructor, and now in her second full year of teaching at the Boone Campus, Cindy completed her own education by first obtaining a B.A. degree at Marian College in Indianapolis, Indiana to Iowa State University in Ames, Iowa, where she received her M.S. degree in 1977. Cindy presently teaches four different psychology classes, and soon will be teaching a new course called Experimental Psychology. Listed below is a short description of the four classes presently offered at Boone:

1) General Psychology - an introduction to contemporary approaches and knowledge in the scientific study of behavior with emphasis on such topics as learning, perception, motivation, and personality.

2) Educational Psychology - the principles of psychology applied to classroom teaching with emphasis on such topics as development, learning, motivation, evaluation, adjustment, and educational techniques.

3) Developmental Psychology - the study of factors that affect human development from conception to death, with emphasis on such topics as physical, cognitive, and social changes, methods of study, and current issues.

4) Human Sexuality - this course is an attempt to provide students with more definitive and precise information about the nature of human sexuality. An interdisciplinary approach will be used to present a social, and psychological aspects of sexuality. Personally, Cindy feels that the classes she instructs give a student a good solid background in psychology. She feels they will especially benefit students continuing on in further education, nursing, and dental health. All of the psychology classes are usually filled and Cindy was definitely pleased when she found out that the Human Sexuality course was the first section to close in the spring quarter schedule.

Softball Starts

By Steve Kramer

The DMACC female softball team began practice last week inside the campus gym. Mr. Hughes, softball coach is anxiously awaiting the girls April 2 opener against Ellsworth here at Boone.

The team consists of four sophomores and seven freshman additions.

SOPHS

Sophomores include Jolene Olson, Janet Reiser from Denison, Sherry Peterson of East Greene High School and Shelley Williams from Ogden. Sherry Peterson has won three high school letters and can play either outfield or third base. Shelley won five letters at Ogden and prefers second base but played the outfield as a senior.

FRESHMEN

The freshman crop is indeed very talented. Ange Malles comes from Corning High School where she won four letters. Ange pitches and may sometime be seen as the designated hitter. Laurie Gottschalk had attended various high schools, but graduated from one in Rapid City, South Dakota. Laurie is a pitcher and shortstop. Cindy Vanderheiden attended Carroll Kueper High. She plans to play the outfield, hopefully left or right field. Kerin Springer is one of two Boone natives on the team. She won one high school letter and can play third base, center field, and can help pitch. Mary Storey attended Woodward Granger where she won four letters. She can play just about any position but right field. Mary was All-State Honorable Mention as a high school athlete. She was also first team All-Conference twice and three times on the All Tournament team. Jane Boesen also won four letters at Boone H.S. She was honored as first team All-Conference and also Honorable Mention in the CIC conference. Jane will play either first base or left field. East Green H.S. also gives us Jerri Augustus. She won four varsity letters and was first team All-Conference three out of four years. The fourth year she was placed on the second team. Jerri can play any one of four positions. She may enter the lineup as an outfielder, catcher, third baseman, or shortstop.

With this, Coach Larry Hughes is very honored to lead this fine softball squad into battle.

Looking Ahead

B.B. Coach

Larry Hughes

Coach Larry Hughes, in retrospect of the Boys basketball season, noted the close losses. He did, however, dwell on the positive: the 29-point victory over Creston, the upset of Hutchinson, and of course, the Homecoming victory over Council Bluffs. For the season the Bears had a .478 winning percentage, and in the Western Conference that isn’t good enough.

NEXT YEAR

“We lost two starters as one quit and the other was academically ineligible,” acknowledged Hughes. “We didn’t have a set lineup until midway through the season,” adds Hughes. With several players returning next year, Coach Hughes is optimistic about the future.

Larry Fuller and Blood on All-Star Team

Prior to the championship game Iowa Junior Colleges had a North-South All-Star game. Many of these players are the All-Region (Iowa) team. The first team consisted of Mark Vance of Burlington, Sam Fosley of Ellsworth, Kirkwood’s James Greene and Rick Koel and Garrett Harris of Clarinda. The All-Region XI Tournament team included the above plus Terry Watson of Ellsworth, Jeff Peyton of Kirkwood, and Victor Chacon of Wartburg.

NEXT YEAR

The teams that finished 7-4 in conference play, 7-17 in Iowa co-against and .3-20 overall, placed Larry Fuller and "Arvin White on the North All-Star squad. "Blood" averaged 23.1 points a game while Larry scored 15 per game. "Arvin" averaged about ten rebounds a game. "Blood" was honored by being placed on the 3rd team All-Regional team while Larry was Honorable Mention.
Sports Line: Questions and Answers

By Steve Kramer

Do you think Los Angeles should have won Super Bowl XIV?

Alias Johnny

The play that broke L.A. was the 73 yard pass. Leading 19-17, the Rams at home looked like a shoe-in. The Steelers gaining the 24-19 lead ended it. The last touchdown was icing on the cake. However, that was an illegitimate interference call in the endzone, that made the final score 31-19.

Is the Big 8 the greatest overall conference?

Fred

Not a chance! The big two sports shape up like this. Football has been dominated by the Big 10. Michigan, Ohio State and Purdue all finished in the Top 20. Indiana is also highly improved, beating favored BYU in the Holiday Bowl this year. Basketball also is Big Ten. The Big Ten at one time had four of its teams in the Top Ten. The Big 8 might balance up better in other sports but not the big once. The Big 8 in football has often been regarded as "Oklahoma and the seven dwarfs." Also, last year the Big 8 had only one NCAA representative in the NCAA basketball tourney, whereas last year the Big 10 had two. Expecially, Indiana beat Purdue in the NIT championship contest. Convinced? This year, Indiana could meet OSU while Iowa also reaches the Final Four. Minnesota, Michigan, and Illinois also are still alive in the NIT. Go for it Big 10?

Do you think Pete Maravich will bring the Celtics a NBA Championship?

Unknown Perceous

Possibly! However, the defending Seattle Supersonic may disagree. They have a chance to make it to the Championship Series. If Boston wins their Atlantic Division, over Philadelphia, they can surely take care of San Antonio. Atlanta is a sleeper! Who will be the first player chosen in the NBA draft this year?

B.C.

I believe the Detroit Lions have first choice. Either Billy Sims, or Heisman Winner, Charlie White, for their backfield is needed. Billy is still the best choice because of his size.

Who is the top college coach in basketball?

T.M.

I believe the 66 year-old Depaul mentor is. After all, he has 38 years of experience!

Do you feel referees in all or some sports ought to go back to school to learn the rules?

Don't we all sometimes feel that way. Especially when our team is losing. The referees should be self-sufficient and be able to clean up their own act. For some umpires this may be a necessity.

If you have any Sports Questions, feel free to submit it to me or the Publication Department. I'll try to answer all interrogations.

Pre-season Madness In Baseball

The New York Yankees get the jump on everyone starting workouts in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Naturally a few players jump camp. This year a man who has a Reggie candy bar named after him did. The Yankee are indeed having problems. Gene Michael, their General Manager, is placing pitcher Ron Guidry on disciplinary action and probably fine for competing on ABC's Superstars. Guidry is having a lawyer study his contract in reprimand. Also, ex-manager Billy Martin should be right at home with Charley Finley of the A's. Billy was recently hired in Chicago as Oakland's mentor. The two reportedly are starting a TV show. It's called "The God Coupe." Many clubs head out of the U.S. such as Cleveland to Mexico City, and Detroit to San Juan. Detroit and St. Louis will meet in the sixth Roberto Clemente Series in San Juan, Puerto Rico. These contests are played in memory of Roberto who died in a tragic airplane crash in Nicaragua.

Spring training did start on schedule despite the failure of the owners' management council and the players' association to agree on a new basic operating contract. Both are still negotiating in New York.

Salute To Abner D-Day

Baseball has for sometime captured the emotions of people throughout this great land. The Bible starts out--in the big inning! With March, major leaguers head either to Florida, Arizona, or California. Many colleges also plan trips to try to locat pleasant weather. So instead of looking for the ground and signal winter's end, look for baseball and listen for the crack of the bat. Ironically enough, on February 29, all pitchers and catchers reported to their respective sites. Most position players start much later. Pittsburgh headed to Bradenton, Florida, while the Orioles started in Miami, Florida what both hope will climax next fall in a repeat of last year's World Series. Thanks, Abner Doubleday!

While Lake Placid was occupied with busy Olympic fans, the Southern California Trojans hosted Los Angeles. Arizona State split with the San Francisco Giants in Tucson. If you have not noticed, ASU recently beat Stanford 10-2 in Pac 10 play. Stanford, however, is the favorite in the Pac 10.

Boone Hosted NJCAA Tourney

Kirkwood Takes Laurels

By Steve Kramer

While many people were home in front of the box watching the NCAA, others were at Boone as spectators for the Region XI Iowa NJCAA tournament. Boone hosted this tourney the last eight years. Nevertheless, attendance was down this year, but those present were not disappointed.

The tourney opened March 8 and ran through the 10th. There were eight teams in opening round games Ellsworth beat Sioux Empire 85-76, while Burlington nipped Crestron 60-52. Clarinda hung off by 27-5, and Kirkwood blitzzed Ft. Dodge 63-50.

Burlington now had a third chance to beat Ellsworth after losing the previous two close encounters. Burlington, the defending Region XI champ, took it on the chin though, 71-69 in a thriller. In the other semifinal match Kirkwood moppped up Clarinda, as many left at the half.

The championship game was set. The popular Ellsworth Panthers against the high-flying Eagles. Kirkwood averaged 97.4 offensive points per outing, with a .520 field goal accuracy as a team. Ellsworth was 9-1 in conference and 25-1 in Iowa competition. Kirkwood of Cedar Rapids was 7-1 in conference and 16-3 in Iowa competition. The Panthers averaged 85.1 a contest. But it was an easy game. It wasn't a typical plus 18.9 Kirkwood win.

Kirkwood trailed at half 33-26 even though Kirk Keel had already called 13. Sam Mosley was audaciously sitting on the Ellsworth bench with two fouls watching the team keep the lead without him. The second half was indeed a different story. The Eagles played nip and tuck under the last climactic minutes. Kirkwood finally put the game away shooting the Kirkwood club took charge. Mosley could only not one field goal the whole second half. The Eagles won the half 36-25 and the laurels 62-57. Ellsworth ended up at 27-5.
