300 Attend
Open House

Over 300 friends of DMACC-Boone Campus attended a rededication and open house Thursday, Nov. 19 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. on campus.

The event was co-sponsored by the Boone Campus Foundation and Boone Campus Employees’ Association.

The open house was held in celebration of the completion of the $400,000 remodeling project.

George Silberhorn commented the evening went quite well.

“We heard a lot of good comments from the visitors about how nice and up-to-date everything looked,” he said.

The rededication began in the auditorium with remarks by Lloyd Courter of Boone, member of the DMACC board of directors.

Dr. Wayne Rouse, president of the Boone Campus Foundation, also spoke prior to recognition of special guests and dignitaries.

Campus tours were given, with refreshments served in the Campus Center.

The open house committee, George Silberhorn, Doris Wickman, Vivian Brandmeyer, Kris Phillips and Donna King, termed the evening a success.

QUESTION: How do you feel about designated smoking areas on campus?

JAMIE JOHNSON
If I didn’t smoke, it would be great. I hate running all the way to the lounge to smoke. Maybe they should have an ashtray at one end of the second floor hallway.

DUC NGUYEN
I think it’s a good idea. The smokers should be in a smoking area.

JANE REILING
I’m a smoker, but I don’t mind; it’s only fair to nonsmokers.

AA, AS Degrees Explained

by ERIC NELSON

An informational meeting to discuss requirements needed for AA and AS degrees was held Oct. 21 by George Silberhorn and Rich Finnestad, counselors.

The meeting was for all Boone Campus majors, including business, liberal arts, etc.

Another meeting was held Nov. 20, after presstime, for interested students.

The meetings are beneficial for those students planning to graduate and/or transfer to another college or university, according to Silberhorn.

For more information on the meetings or on graduation requirements, contact Silberhorn or Finnestad in the main office.

HAROLD JOHNSON
I think we do need a designated smoking area. Until we find a better place than the lounge, it is satisfactory.
Rotaract Activities

The DMACC-Boone Campus Rotaract Club recently conducted election of officers.

Officers for the 1987-88 year are Allen Gilbert, president; Becky Johnson, vice president; Yvonne Farrand, secretary; Phillip Edwards, treasurer; Duc Nguyen, publicity; and Doug Philips, historian.

Activities this year have included planting a garden around the DMACC sign, and the food drive for the Boone Food Pantry, currently underway. If you wish to donate a canned food item, leave it in one of the boxes found in the academic building.

Time to Register

It's now time to register for classes at Boone Campus for spring semester. Open registration will be conducted through Jan. 12, 1988, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the office. A schedule of classes is available there.

A special date for new arts/science students to register is Tuesday, Dec. 8, for full or part-time students. The payment due date is Jan. 6. Classes for spring semester begin Wednesday, Jan. 13.

Placement Report Good

Approximately 91% of the students graduating from DMACC last year who wanted to find a job found one, according to Dorothy Thorston, DMACC's placement advisor. Thorston said in an article in the DMACC Bulletin that 92% of the graduates elected to stay in Iowa and work.

The average salary earned this past year was $14,367, up about $1,000 from what DMACC grads earned the previous year.

Board to Meet

The DMACC Board of directors will meet Tuesday, Dec. 8 at Ankeny Campus.

Watson Elected To Association

Cynthia Cummings Watson, director of the Boone Ericson Public Library and part-time instructor at DMACC - Boone Campus, has been elected to the executive board of the Iowa Library Association. Watson has been director of the Ericson Library since 1978. She teaches library instruction at Boone Campus.

Watson said one of her greatest professional concerns is library involvement with literacy and new readers. "This is a fast-growing area, and one which libraries must recognize as affecting each community, large or small."

"I am also interested in expanding the options for multi-type library cooperation and service that cross old barriers between different types of libraries," she added.

Watson received a BA in library science and English from Upper Iowa University and an MLS from the University of Wisconsin - Madison. Congratulations, Cynthia!

PBL Installs Officers

Students May Lose Money

DMACC students and those from other Iowa area community colleges may lose federal loan money because of the high default rate of student loan payments, thanks to a new rule issued by William Bennett, U.S. education secretary.

An article in the Nov. 8 Des Moines Register stated that beginning in 1991, post-secondary schools with default rates higher than 20% will face a variety of sanctions, including a cutoff of student aid assistance.

DMACC's default rate, according to the Department of Education, is 25% (at the start of the government's 1985 fiscal year). Rates exceeded 20% at 13 area community colleges.

Bennett was quoted as saying the government cannot tolerate default costs of $16 billion a year, triple the amount of five years ago.

State and DMACC officials have disputed the figures. They say it is possible a new federal methodology has inflated the numbers.

Pig Roast Is A Success

by JOHN MURPHY

A pig roast and dance were held at DMACC - Boone Campus Center Tuesday, Oct. 27. The event was sponsored by the Student Action Board and Phi Beta Lambda. Originally, a hayride was also scheduled for the same night, but was cancelled for liability purposes. Instead, Boone FM radio station KZBA came through with great music and a dance that went over well.

There was an excellent turn-out with over 300 people being served. About 200 people stayed ed for the dance. Overall, the festivities lasted four hours. The next activity for Boone Campus students is a Christ-mas dance at the Elks Club Thursday, Dec. 10, from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Atkins Visits Boone Campus

by GLEN SIEROSLAWSKI

U.S. Congressman Chet Atkins (D-Mass.) visited DMACC Boone Campus to campaign on behalf of the Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis, Saturday, Nov. 21. Approximately 15 were pres-

Atkins commented that Duka-kis "has the strength and character for America's future.

One of his strengths is "a reputation for total honesty," he said.

Another is being known as one of "the nation's most effective governors," Atkins said. As becoming governor of Massachusetts in 1975, Duka-kis took a troubled economy and created 170,000 new jobs in four years, balanced the budget and turned a $600 million deficit into a $200 million surplus.

When asked about military spending, Atkins said, "His (Dukakis') view is that we need to have a strong national defense, but a smart national defense."

"Right now we are just throwing money at that problem. We've spent a trillion dollars in defense buildup and that's been the increase in the last seven years under Ronald Reagan. It hasn't bought us much security," Atkins said.

"I believe the important thing is for us to understand where our real national defense is and that it is the strength of our people. That means education, that means research and development and that means health care," he said.

On the issue of education, Gov. Dukakis, as president, will establish a national teaching excellence fund to recruit and retain outstanding teachers for America's schools, according to Atkins.

The fund will be financed with a first year investment of $250 million.

The new fund would supplement efforts already underway at the state and local levels to recognize the work of our best teachers and to provide incentives that will attract top students to the teaching profession.

Gov. Dukakis will also take three major steps to increase college opportunities:

- End the current administration's assault on Pell Grants and college work loans.

- Use every tool available to the White House to encourage state governments to create college opportunity funds and tuition prepayment plans that will make it easier for families to meet required tuition fees.
- Initiate a thorough review of the existing federal guaranteed student loan program.

Some programs Gov. Dukakis has already worked on and has received national recognition for include good jobs for those on welfare, cracking down on tax cheats, protecting people from drunk drivers, and encouraging students to say no to drugs.

Another program Gov. Dukakis would like to begin deals with the problems of foreclosures of farms in Iowa and the surrounding states.

Atkins said, "We need a national farm policy that is oriented toward the family farm and not toward corporate agriculture.

"We need to do things to make low interest loans available for farmers, and we need, as a country, to realize that farming is not just a business, it's a way of life," he said.

Atkins said the campaign has been going well.

"Mike is doing very well all over the country," he said.

It's Time to Register

by JOHN MURPHY

Early bird registration for the spring of 1988 started Monday, Nov. 16 at Boone Campus. The last day to register is Tuesday, Jan. 19, 1988.

Have you registered?
For over 350 students, that answer is yes.

According to George Silber-born, student services, registration is going far better than it did last spring.

About 750 people are expected to register for the upcoming spring term. If you haven't registered, do so soon as classes are filling up quickly.

Do You Like Sign, Flags?

by JOHN MURPHY

As many people have noticed, the DMACC sign on Hancock and Story Streets was recently redone. In addition, many new, colorful flags now adorn the light posts on campus. Both the sign and the flags are the focus of various opinions, which is the subject of this issue's reader poll.

Question: Have you seen the new DMACC sign and flags and what is your opinion of them?

Kevin Taylor: Yes, I've seen both. I think the sign is real nice with good background and lettering. It's eye catching and in just the right spot. The flags are all right, but I don't like the color.

Robyn Neese: Yes, I've seen both. I don't like the way DMACC is lettered; it looks like a six-year-old wrote it.

Chuck Denton: I think Boone Campus should have saved money and put it toward scholarships.

Marc Morhead: Yes, I've seen both. The sign makes the school more noticeable. I like the flags because now when people drive through, they realize this isn't the University of Southeastern Boone, but that it's DMACC.

John Claggett: The sign and flags add vitality to DMACC.

Bruce Youngblood: Yes, I've seen both. I like them; they put DMACC in the public eye.

Scott Kinne: I think they enhance the appearance of the college, and it's a good way to draw attention to future DMACC students.

Tami Porter: Yes, I've seen both. They look like a little kid wrote them, not like something you would expect a college to have.

Ted Hawkins: I've seen both. They could be improved.

Jim Merritt: I've seen the flags, but not the sign. I like the flags because they are colorful.

George Silberhorn: I've seen both. I definitely like the flags.

They will be changed with the seasons.

Carla Condon: I think they are nice, they add color to the area.

Patty Pietz: I haven't seen the sign, but I've seen the flags. I like them; I think they add to the atmosphere of the outdoors.

Ted Hawkin: I've seen both. They could be improved.

Jim Merritt: I've seen the flags, but not the sign. I think they're a waste of money. They are nice, but I don't think they are necessary.

Jeff Hedden: I've seen the flags, but not the sign. I think something was needed.

Sherry Paul: I like them. They are a definite improvement and add class.

Dave Goetz: I've not seen the sign, but I saw the flags. They look okay.

Jill Peterson: I've seen the flags, but not the sign. I like the flags, though. They add to the surroundings.

Curt Bill: Yes, I've seen both. They are all quite attractive, but will the flags last through the winter?

Writers, Take Note!

An innovative attempt to give recognition to student writers has been unveiled by the English department at the Ankeny Campus.

Called Ventures and edited by Dayna Pittman, it is a collection of writing done by students for their composition classes and deemed by their instructors worthy of being shared with other students.

Volume 1, Number 1 was published this semester and is being sold in the Ankeny bookstore as a supplementary readings book for only $5.25.

A second publication is now underway, and selections for inclusion in this volume are being sought. Anyone who wishes to contribute a writing for consideration should see one of the composition instructors or ask Sunny Powers, Room 105, for more information.

No money is received for the submissions, but there's always the prestige of being published and having all the other composition students read one's writing.

Writing Contest Underway

Works may be submitted for the annual DMACC writing contest beginning Monday, Oct. 7, according to Rick Chapman, communications/humanities, Ankeny Campus.

Papers will be accepted through Monday, Dec. 7, 1987. Any DMACC students enrolled this fall may participate.

Awards

The awards include a tuition scholarship of $250 for fall term, 1988, by the Ankeny Campus Student Action Board (the contest's chief sponsor). Cash awards include $100 for best story and $50 for runner-up.

"We feel that all students, those returning, as well as those graduating or transferring, will feel welcome to enter their work," Chapman said.

Publication

Award-winning manuscripts and those receiving honorable mention may be published in Expressions.

Judging

Judges from DMACC will evaluate the manuscripts and award the prizes. They and the coordinator reserve the right to determine if prizes will be awarded.

Entries will be judged anonymously, for each contestant's work will be number-coded during the evaluation process. Keep copies of your work. Entries will not be returned.

SAT - An Option?

Schenectady, N.Y. - Findings of the 14-page Report of the Task Force on Admissions support the belief that by making the Scholastic Aptitude Test optional, Union College had much to benefit.

According to Dean of Admissions Kenneth Nourse, "We have no intention of allowing this to diminish the quality of the educational standards here. If we get any indication of such, adjustments will be made."

A study to give some sort of indication as to the impact that the new admissions policy will have on the first graduating class is scheduled for 1992.

Chairman of the Task Force Professor Francis L. Lambert noted that the College's admissions committee recommended the following, besides the new SAT-optional admission policy:
- Establishing student projects awards that would total up to $2,000 for independent search to each of eight outstanding applicants (four pairs of two intended majors from each division);
- Establishing book awards that would total up to $900 to outstanding juniors in high schools from areas which are being emphasized in our recruiting network;
- Establishing the Garnet Scholar which would be awarded to high school students graduating in the top 10% of their class and who meet other specified requirements so as to receive aid in the form of jobs and grants; and
- The approved changes in admissions.

The fourth recommendation, besides the establishment of SATs as optional, called for an encouragement of applicants to submit a written or creative piece of work that was prepared for a school assignment and graded.

Retention Standards

Tuscaloosa, Ala. - A three-part proposal to increase retention standards for University of Alabama students will "signal to students that just getting by with Ds is not good enough," according to Dr.2

The current university-wide minimum is 2.0, though some schools and colleges have higher standards.

The calculation of the 2.25 requirement would be based on the highest grade earned in the course presented to meet graduation requirements; a 2.0 would be required on total hours attempted.

- A 2.5 grade point average be required in junior and senior-level courses in the student's major field of study.

The calculation of the 2.5 GPA would be based on the highest grade earned in the courses, not on total hours attempted.

Figures presented by Thompson revealed that 515 of the 2,922 seniors as of Sept. 1986 had GPAs between 2.0 (the current minimum) and 2.25 (the proposed minimal GPA required for graduation). However, because some schools, colleges and programs already have GPA graduation requirements ranging from 2.25 to 2.5, the total number of seniors who would be affected were the standards in effect now is approximately 315.

Several Senate members expressed concern over the possibility that grade inflation might be occurring in some core courses.

Requirement Dropped

Oberlin, Ohio - In a reversal of its spring decision, the Oberlin College faculty recently voted to drop a foreign language proficiency requirement. The faculty voted in favor of the proposal in March, but according to Robert Haslum, college secretary, many faculty members have had "second thoughts" regarding the effects of the language requirement.

Proiciency in a foreign language may now be included as part of the newly-proposed distribution guidelines. The guidelines divide the curriculum into eight, rather than three, distribution groups.

Teacher Feature

by ERIC NELSON

Every day is just "business as usual" for Mel Holthus, business instructor at Boone Campus.

As a business instructor, Mel teaches such classes as financial math, accounting principles, and management of accounting on micro computers.

Mel received both his bachelor's degree and master's degree at the University of Northern Colorado.

Interesting enough, his teaching career started right out of college, on the Island of Guam.

Mel came to DMACC in 1975 and began at Iowa State University in 1985.

After leaving ISU in 1985, Mel traveled to Europe, taught at the University of Maryland and then returned to Boone Campus in the fall of 1986.

Mel resides in Boone and his family includes his wife Judy, a daughter at ISU and a son who will graduate in chiropractic medicine in December.

"I enjoy DMACC because of its small size. It also enables a person to interact with people with various degree programs," he said.

Other than teaching at DMACC, Mel enjoys playing tennis, reading, and going to the dog races.

The Smokeout

Mel participated in the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout Nov. 19. The smokeout is to encourage smokers to kick the habit, or at least cut down that day.

Mel was "adopted" by George and Jinny Silberhorn, who supported him throughout the day and encouraged him not to break his pledge.

Boone Campus' Connie Booth was local coordinator of the event.

How did Mel do?

Well . . . he hasn't had a cigarette yet!

George Silberhorn commented he and Jinny gave Mel carrots, pop, candy and other items to distract him from tobacco Nov. 19.

"We also took turns visiting him throughout the day and encouraged others to visit him, also," George said.

Mel said he is still not smoking, although he sometimes feels the urge to do so.

"I've smoked off and on for years, and am glad to have finally quit!" he said.

Mel also enticed six Boone Campus students to join him during the smokeout.

Congratulations, Mel!

These Courses Offer You the World

Did you ever wonder why people listen to country western music?

Who ended his newscasts with "and that's the way it was . . . ?"

Did Pulitzer or Hearst win the yellow journalism newspaper battles of the 1800s?

What was the first movie to contain sound?

Who was "the master of suspense" in TV?

The answers to these questions and other interesting bits of information pertaining to magazines, books, newspapers, radio, TV, movies and advertising are all a part of the JNAD 120-introduction to mass communications class offered at Boone Campus spring semester.

Other aspects of the class involve taking polls, listening to guest speakers from the local media and playing Jeopardy to study for the exams!

The class will meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 11:15. So go ahead, sign up for a class that really interests you!

In addition, the journalism program is offering JNAD 124-layout and design, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 12:20 to 1:15 p.m. All aspects of layout and design in newspapers and magazines are covered.

Of course, JNAD 123-publications production is also available to you. This class is responsible for publishing The Bear Facts. Five issues are planned for spring semester. There is no set time for class yet, as a time is set up the first week of the semester to fit everyone's schedule.

If you would like to write stories, sell advertising, take pictures and be in the know about what's happening on campus, JNAD 123 is for you! This class would be a plus for your resume, too!

For more information about any of these courses, see Jill Burkhart, instructor, in Room 110.
