Boone Campus Homecoming, Parent’s Night is successful!

By Scot Ostendorf
Staff Writer

The 1990 DMACC Boone Campus Homecoming activities were held Saturday, Feb. 17, including two ballgames, a parent’s reception, and the Homecoming dance and play at Boone Golf and Country Club.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the king, Kelly Heller and queen, Lisa Miller. Prior to the dance, both basketball teams were unsuccessful in their games against Waldorf.

This year’s court includes Erin Allbaugh, Kim Sellers, Kim Flibiker, Jennifer Hoversten, Lisa Miller, Darren Taylor, John Izumi, Andy Goldsworthy, Yen Chong, and Kelly Heller.

Erin Allbaugh, of Boone, is the daughter of Marvin Allbaugh. She is an elementary education major and plans to further her education at the University of Northern Iowa. Erin’s hobbies include shopping and singing. She chose Boone Campus because it was close to home and it has a nice atmosphere. Erin’s “brush” was when she sang in New York City with her school choir.

Kim Sellers is the daughter of Tom and Janna Sellers, Dike, Iowa. She is also an elementary education major and she plans to attend Mankato State in the fall. She chose to attend school in Boone because her grandmother lives here. Her “brush” was when she got her picture taken with Winnie the Pooh at Disneyland.

Kim Flibiker is a business administration major from Calhender, Iowa. The daughter of Don and Mary Flibiker, she plans to attend Iowa State University to further her education. In her free time, she enjoys skiing. Kim came to Boone Campus because she likes the class sizes and the personal attention from the instructors. Her “brush” was when she participated in the 1984 Morgan World Championship Horse Show in Oklahoma and won many world honors.

Jennifer Hoversten is the daughter of Lyle and Carolyn Hoversten of Williams, Iowa. The liberal arts major plans to go to Texas A & M to study marine biology. Her hobbies include athletics and going out with friends. Jennifer’s “brush” was when she played the tambourine for John Bon Jovi’s band.

Lisa Miller is a Boone native studying public relations. Lauren and Barbara Miller’s daughter plans to attend ISU in the fall. Dancing is what she likes to do in her spare time. She chose Boone Campus because it was close to home and the people are great to be around. Her “brush” was in John Bon Jovi’s band playing keyboards.

John Izumi is the son of Hugh and Elizabeth Izumi. He is a business administration major and is undecided about his further education. His hobbies include eating, sleeping, and collecting butterflies. John came to Boone Campus because of the baseball program. His “brush” was when he bumped into Wayne Gretzky.

Darren Taylor is the son of Edward and Mavis Taylor of Swift Current, Sask., Canada. The business major plans to transfer to a four year school, but is unsure which one. Hockey and golf are his hobbies and he chose Boone Campus because of the baseball program and affordability.

Andy Goldsworthy is the son of Richard and Kathy Goldsworthy. He is a liberal arts major from Liverpool, England, and plans to attend the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee after finishing here at Boone Campus. Baseball is one of his hobbies and it is also one of the reasons he came here. Andy’s “brush” was that he actually passed Composition II with Mr. Berge.

Yen Chong is the son of Hong and Lin Chong of Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Yen is a business major and is undecided about his further education. He likes to play hockey with Kelly Heller. One of the reasons Yen came here was to meet the legendary John Smith.” His “brush” was when he actually met Elvis at Hy-Vee.

Kelly Heller is a liberal arts major from Williston, North Dakota. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Heller Jr., Kelly is undecided about his plans. He also likes to play hockey. Kelly came to DMACC to “play for the legendary Coach John Smith and for hamburger days.” His “brush” was when he offered Hulk Hogan a beer at the North Dakota State Fair.

PBL celebrates PBL Week

By Angie Lansman
Staff Writer

Phi Beta Lambda celebrated the month with PBL Week, Feb. 11-17. There was a different activity each day of the week, according to Mary Jane Green, advisor.

Monday was professional day, Tuesday members wore PBL colors blue and gold, or DMACC colors of blue and white. Wednesday, Feb. 14, members brought treats for a bake sale. Thursday was either pajamas or hat day. Students wore PBL and DMACC sweatshirts Friday. Green said, “Approximately $85 was made at the bake sale.”

A PBL poster contest was also conducted. First place went to Ginger Woodley, second place to Alicia Townsend, and Brenda Backman received third.

Other Business

Over $1,200 was made from the pizza sales in January. This fund-raiser money will go into a general fund.

A PBL meeting was held Wednesday, Feb. 14, Green said. Many topics were up for discussion. Members talked about the idea of having another bake sale around Easter.

The group also mentioned doing another fund-raiser. They may be selling candy.

Members are gearing up for the State PBL Contest April 6-7.

QUESTION: What Are Your Feelings On Nelson Mandela’s Release?

By Lori Burkhead
Photographer

TERRY FISHER
JEFFERSON, IOWA
Economic’s sanctions against South Africa have finally forced them to recognize the repressed people of their nation.

ANGELA LATCHAM
HEDRICK, IOWA
It is terrible that Nelson Mandela had to spend 27 years in jail just because he wanted to help the people in South Africa. I think it is great that he has finally been released and hopefully he will continue to help the black people in South Africa.

BILL RYAN
BOONE, IOWA
I think it is well that he was released, so he can lead the effort toward peaceful integration in South Africa.

LORI SCHILLING
JEFFERSON, IOWA
I think his release is long overdue. Twenty-seven years is too long to serve in prison for the acts he committed.

ORSAN MANSY
AMES, IOWA
It will be a great thing, especially for the black people in South Africa. Lots of changes will happen, I hope Nelson Mandela will do what people expect him.
Teachers comment on smoking area

By Mick Kawahara
Staff Writer

As most of us are aware, there were some structural changes made in The Campus Center to create a specific smoking area recently. The Bear Facts asked several teachers about their opinions on this matter.

Here are their responses:

JoAnn Sargeant (non-smoker): I think it’s a positive move and gives people visiting our campus an improved first impression.

Robert Taylor (non-smoker): I think it’s excellent. I believe smoking will someday end.

Mary Jane Green (non-smoker): I think the change was needed because the smoker area was frustrating. It’s been great and I think it’s a big improvement.

Jill Loos (non-smoker): I think it was needed. It was too smoky so I had to go somewhere else to eat.

Bill Alley (smoker): I think it was a good move, and it’s working pretty well. I have people in smoking section complaining about the lack of adequate exhaust.

Jim Newby (non-smoker): I think the change was needed because the smoke bothered a lot of people on campus. It’s nice to breathe fresh air in the hallways again.

Mel Holthies (smoker): I believe that someday smoking will be banned from entire building. ISU has already banned smoking in the building. I believe in the rights of the non-smokers over my right to smoke.

Sunny Power (non-smoker): I like it. It’s a big improvement.

Rosie Irvine (non-smoker): I like the separation.

Mary Jane Green (non-smoker): I like it. We don’t have to breathe the smoke, and the lounge is more pleasant to be in.

Curt Hill (non-smoker): I use a student lounge very little, but am in favor of the change.

Bruce Kelly (non-smoker): I think it’s going to be positive, the thing that I worry about is that a lot of people who play pool, don’t smoke, specially baseball players that care about health very much. I wonder how they cope with it.

Bill Ryan (non-smoker): Well, if it makes for a less offensive environment for a number of students, I think it’s a good project. The negative side is I’ve been disappointed over the years to see The Student Center choppup up into several entities. In the past, certain functions could be held in The Student Center which are no longer feasible.

Vivian Brandmeyer (non-smoker): I’m very appreciative to be able to eat in a smoke-free area. I just like it.

Jan Larson (non-smoker): I think it’s fine. It’s good to have a place to get something to eat and drink without smoke.

Nancy Way (non-smoker): I love it! It helps a lot. It cuts down on smoke in the hall, in my clothes, in my food, in my clothes.

John Doran (smoker): The changes are acceptable, however better ventilation in the area would be an important issue.

Kay Mueller (non-smoker): I think it’s great. It’s so nice to get pop without smelling like smoke.

Harold Johnson (non-smoker): It is a satisfactory arrangement. The main idea was to get a separate area for smokers, and I guess that’s been accomplished.

World class violinist to perform at Boone Campus

By Mick Kawahara
Staff Writer

World class violinist Leopold LaFosse will perform in the Boone Campus Auditorium Monday, March 12 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door.

The evening will consist of primarily classical music, with some jazz mixed in.

George Silberhorn, director of student services, said "I’m sure the concert will be great. He is looking forward to playing at DMACC."

The event is jointly sponsored by Boone Campus and the Iowa Arts Council.

LaFosse has gained international recognition for his solo appearances in recital and with symphony orchestras.

Born in Massachusetts, he began studying the violin at the age of three, and made his first public appearance at four. His talent was recognized by eminent musicians, and at the age of eight, he began a three-year series of appearances on NBC network programs in New York City.

A musician of wide experience in many performance areas, LaFosse has been the concertmaster of five symphony orchestras: San Antonio, Dallas, Austin, Aspen Music Festival, and the National Symphony of Peru.

Prior to coming to the University of Iowa as artist-teacher of violin in 1972, he was on the violin faculty of the University of Texas at Austin.

LaFosse maintains an active schedule of solo performances in the U.S., Europe, and South America, including recent highly acclaimed appearances at the Phillips Gallery, the National Gallery of Art, and the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C.

LaFosse has written "A Collation of the Leading Pedagogical Approaches to Violin Technique" a compilation of the most important printed material on the subject of violin pedagogy.

"He never failed to give a full measure of ravishing sound, with golden notes soaring above the stave in Bartok’s sonata for solo violin—and gave (Brahms’ first sonata) as warmly satisfying an interpretation as I have heard."

Student Spotlight

Hoyle returns to school to fulfill his goals

By Scot Ostendorf
Staff Writer

Everyone's big brother is the topic for this article. Practically everyone at Boone Campus has probably heard of, or knows Jim Hoyle. If not, we hope to give you a glimpse into his life in this month's Student Spotlight.

Jim grew up in Bagley, but now resides in Grand Junction. He and wife Shanda have two children: J.J., 11 and Lacie, 9.

Jim received his GED from Jefferson 8 years ago, and then studied hairstyling in Europe with Graham Webb and Vidal Sassoon.

"I then worked as a platform artist for Matrix teaching others about hairstyles and coloring, among other tricks of the trade," he commented.

Jim owned his own business, for a time. He closed the Grand Junction shop, Permanent Connections, soon after his mother died to help his father with the family trucking business.

Jim had a near fatal accident Sept. 22, 1988. He was running back to his truck when he ran into a wire about face high. He was rushed to the hospital where he was for several weeks.

Since this unfortunate accident, Jim "decided to go back to school to get a degree in recreation. I have a real love for kids and want to someday be a guidance counselor for a junior high school." Jim raises cattle with his father-in-law back home. He also runs the Little League baseball program and coaches a team at Grand Junction. Along with all that he teaches gymnastics at both Jefferson and Boone.

"My ultimate goal is to be a full-time foster parent, and to have a boy's ranch for kids who have drug problems or come from broken homes," Jim said.

Art class tours gallery

By Angie Lansman
Staff Writer

Art appreciation class traveled to Des Moines Wednesday, Jan. 31, to tour Fernette’s, an art gallery, in Valley West Mall. Barbara Vaske, Boone Campus art instructor, also works at Fernette’s. She discussed many forms of art to the students. Her art work, sewn window screen, was also displayed there.

Many students benefitted from seeing actual professional art. Students commented on which artist they enjoyed the most. After a quick lunch, the students returned to Boone Campus. This is one of the four field trips art appreciation class will be taking.

CHEER SQUAD AUCTION IS A SUCCESS

By ROB HOOK

The DMACC-Boone Campus cheer squad held its annual auction Wednesday, Dec. 12 at noon in the Campus Center.

The event raised $213.25.

Items that were auctioned were donated from local businesses, the Boone Campus bookstore and athletic department. Money raised from the event is used toward new uniforms as well as other activities, such as providing a sack lunch for the basketball teams at one away game during the season.

Ginny Silberhorn, cheer squad adviser, said “I think the auction went very well, I am very pleased with the results, and I think it was a fun event for both faculty and students.”

Teacher Feature
Communication is important in the classroom

By Shane Kozal
Staff Writer

Good communication between the teacher and student is what it takes to make a good classroom environment. At least that's what Nancy Woods, Boone Campus math and physics instructor and subject of this month's teacher feature, says.

"I really enjoy helping the students get a more clear understanding of the subject material presented to them," Woods said recently.

"I know there will be times when my students will have off days," so that is why I encourage retake tests, she added.

Woods has been teaching here since the fall of 1986. "It has been fun working here because I have always had hard working students," she added.

Woods graduated from Iowa State University with a Master's Degree in high energy physics.

"I plan to return some day and earn my Master's in math," she added.

Woods lives in Boone with her husband and their three boys. Her motto is "You can do anything, with the right amount of touch."

Poetry contest under way

Poetry prizes worth $44,000 will be awarded to 608 poets by the American Poetry Association in 1990. The association will sponsor four separate contests this year, doubling its efforts to discover new talent.

"Students win many of our prizes. They are in a creative time of life, and we look forward to reading their work," said Robert Nelson, publisher for the association.

Each contest awards a $1,000 grand prize, a $500 first prize, and a total of $1,000 in prizes to 152 winners. All adults who write poetry are welcome to enter.

For the current contest, poets may send up to six poems, each no more than 20 lines, name and address on each page, to American Poetry Association, Dept. CO-30, 250-A Potrero St., P.O. Box 1803, Santa Cruz, CA 95061. Poems must be postmarked by March 31 to meet the deadline. A new contest starts April 1.

Each poem will also be considered for publication in the American Poetry Anthology, a hardcover collection of contemporary verse.

Since 1981, the association has awarded over $165,000 in contest prizes to 3,100 poets.

Bears in transition

By Brad Foytik

The DMACC women's basketball team is in transition. With only one returner from the team last year, the Bears found themselves with an abundance of freshmen having to fill the gaps.

The returning Bear from last year is Kenny Jones. Jones is the leader on the floor, while averaging a steady seven points and four assists a game.

At off-guard, home town product Brent Brandmeyer has been a bright spot on this year's squad. He leads the team in scoring with an average of 14.3 points per game. Brent compliments his offensive game with a team leading 35 steals.

One of the team's premier shooters Kenny Tjaden has been an offensive spark for the Bears this year. "He is a good shooter, even though his percentage doesn't show it," coach Larry Hughes commented. Murphy Watson and Chuck Clayton both came to DMACC from Fort Dodge. Whether starting or coming off the bench, both are having productive seasons. Clayton, averaging 9.4 points and 3.7 assists a game, is followed closely by teammate Washington who is averaging 12.9 points a game.

The two big men, Anthony Kitt and Jim Parrish, have held their own defensively. Kitt leads the team in rebounds with 5.3 per game and in blocked shots with 4.3 on the year while Parrish has 13 blocked shots and has shown great hustle both offensively and defensively for the Bears.

Hughes was happy with the coaching ability of his team though he stated the chemistry was rocky at the beginning of the season.

One area of the Bears basketball team's game that needs improvement is forward Ben Pierson for the second semester. During the first semester, Ben lead the team in points per game, rebounds, and shooting percentage.

With only a handful of games to play, the Bears have found themselves with a record of 2-19 overall and 1-17 in Iowa Junior College play and a 1-4 conference record.

Despite their record, the Bears have steadily improved. With the abundance of returning freshmen next year the Bears should be an up and coming force in the Iowa conference.

Lady Bears much improved

By Brad Foytik

The DMACC women's basketball team, much like the men's, is in a year of transition.

Lacking height in the forward and center positions, the Lady Bears have found themselves with only two wins on the season. Despite the lack of height, the Lady Bears compensate with their quickness and outside shooting. Defense is a strong point in the Lady Bears' game plan.

Jacques Hughes leads the team in scoring, averaging 17 points a game. Since the arrival of Hughes at the semester, the outside shooting of the Lady Bears has been much improved.

The other outside threat and second in scoring per game is guard Cindy Bunkofske and Christa Anderson both averaging seven rebounds a game as well as strong contributions to the Lady Bears defense.

Cindy Most is also a valuable player in the low post position.

Coach Dick Criner, now in his ninth year of coaching at DMACC, is pleased with the defensive ability of this year's team. However, at times the offense lacks productivity.

Criner stated that he is optimistic about next year's recruiting and the returning players.

Try Your Luck At The Great Bear Shoot!

The Boone Campus cheerleaders are co-sponsoring a new activity this year with Domino's Pizza — a hoop shoot contest during halftime of home games.

Anyone interested in participating should sign up at the gym door, according to Jenny Silberhorn, cheerleader advisor.

Basketball players, if it's not during their game, retired coaches, kids, tired parents, and teachers are all eligible to sign up.

At halftime of the women's game, one name will be drawn to shoot; two names will be drawn during halftime of the men's game.

Those lucky fans whose names are drawn will start at the first shooting station and shoot until they miss.

- First station, Lay-up, Small Pizza.
- Second station, Free throw, 14" Pizza.
- Third station, three point circle, 2 - 14" Pizzas.

Placing a name in the ballot box more than once each game will cause forfeiture of prizes.

The program from the basketball game will entitle fans to $1.00 off any pizza after the game at Domino's.

So come to the next home game, support your team, and win a pizza.
Despite predictions, college enrollments overall are holding up better than would be expected given a steady decline in the number of high school seniors graduating each year.

Based on findings of a recent study conducted by the College Board's Office of Adult Learning Services (OALS), the greater number of adults as new entrants to higher education is the explanation to the unexpected stable enrollments. According to the results of the OALS survey, more than 6 million adults study for college credit every year and 60 percent of those adults are degree candidates.

The National Center for Education Statistics found that college enrollment in the fall of 1988 rose 2.5 percent from the fall of 1987, driven mainly by an 11 percent rise in the number of college students 25 years and older.

The U.S. Department of Education in its first comprehensive survey of undergraduate and graduate college enrollment by age in the fall, 1987, concluded that roughly 60 percent of all college students were 23 years of age or older. This information confirms that the "traditional-age" student is no longer the norm on college campuses.

Colleges now more than ever can no longer be organized only for students between the ages of 18 and 22. To continue to do so would be to risk financial difficulties and to lose capable students whose time commitments, family obligations, and financial burdens are more complex and more conflicting than those of the full-time, unattached, and financially dependent traditional age student.

Don't let your glasses blur their vision.

Whether a glass holds 12 ounces of beer, 5 ounces of wine, or 1½ ounces of spirits, the alcohol content is the same. It's important to know this because the size and shape of the glass can give people a distorted impression of how much alcohol they're actually drinking.

So when you're out to share some cheer with friends, remember how much alcohol is in your glass and that drinking sensibly lets you hold things in focus.

Always keep safe driving within your sight.
