Natl' Shakespeare Co. to perform 'She Stoops to Conquer' March 26

In this scene from "She Stoops to Conquer", Kate Hardcastle says "Pray, sir, keep your distance" to Charles Marlowe. Charles, thinking Kate is a barmaid in an inn rather than the proper young woman he has come to woo, finds his tongue and hands untied. See story for details.

The National Shakespeare Company is coming to Boone Campus this month!

The New York City based touring repertory company will present Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" Monday, March 26, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

This is a rare opportunity to see a national group of professional actors perform in Boone as part of a Boone Campus sponsored event!

Even though it was written 200 years ago, "She Stoops to Conquer" still remains fresh, upbeat, and delightful to audiences.

The comedy deals with Charles Marlowe's bumbling attempts to woo Kate Hardcastle. Young Marlowe is tongue tied much of the time, and is the cause for many of the laughs.

Kay Mueller, Boone Campus speech and drama instructor, said, "I'm very excited about the show. I'm looking forward to a wonderful performance that the audience will enjoy."

George Silberhorn, director of student services, added "I hope many people from the community, as well as DMACC students, join us for this event. This is a positive step toward including the community in Boone Campus events."

The National Shakespeare Company's one-night appearance in Boone is part of its U.S. tour. The Company tours coast to coast during its September to May season.

Reserved, limited seating is available, so you should act now to reserve seats. Tickets for "She Stoops to Conquer" are on sale for $5 in advance, and $7 at the door. They may be obtained at the Boone Campus Library, Boone State Bank, Citizen's National Bank, and Hawkeye Federal Savings Bank, all in Boone.

The National Shakespeare Company was created in 1963 by Philip Meister, a New York producer and director, and actress Elaine Sulka. Its offices are located in a five-story brownstone in New York's theatre district. The building, known as The Cubiculo, is a popular off-off Broadway theatre space used for performance and rehearsal by a number of theatre organizations.

The National Shakespeare Company and The Cubiculo produce new works of theatre, dance, and music in cooperation with some of New York's most talented new artists.

Spring Play is in Good Shape

The competition has begun! "Mrs. California" by Doris Baizley is the Boone Campus spring play and rehearsal is underway. The production dates are set for April 20 and 21 at 8 p.m.

Auditions for "Mrs. California" were held two weeks ago. The cast includes Dot- Mindy Cazett, Babs-Bernice Kitt, Stage Manager- Mick Kawahara, Mrs. Bernardino- Tracey Herrick, and Mrs. Modesto- Sheri Klemmer. The characters of Mrs. San Francisco and Dudley were not cast at the time of printing.

The play revolves around four women, who are all vying for the title of Mrs. California. They will be involved in apron sewing, table setting, evening gown, and a cooking contest. All of which have hilarious results.

All of the cast members are very excited about this production. Mindy Cazett stated, "It'll make you laugh."

Sheri Klemmer as Mrs. Modesto commented, "Plenty of cake for all!"

Be sure to attend the Boone Campus production of "Mrs. California" on April 20 21.

Student Question

What are your plans for spring break?

By Raquel Zortman
Staff Writer

The Bear Facts recently asked several Boone Campus students what their plans are for spring break.

Here are their responses:

Pam Gengler: Going back home.
Debra Smalley: I have to work.
Jason Bauge: I'm going to Kansas

City.

Tim Grewell: I'm going to Kansas City.

Tim Madson: Staying home.

Scott Anderson: I'm either going to Buena Vista College or I'll work.

Ken Tjaden: I'm going to Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Todd Rosenberg: I'm going to Phoenix, Arizona.

Mick Kawahara: I'm going to Boston.

Brian Chamberlin: I'm going to work and go to Iowa City.

Joe Gaubatz: Try to catch up on my physics.

Mark Woods: Working.
Eric Brendeland: Sleeping.

Bernice Kitt: I'm going home to Jefferson and work.

Lori Wildeman: I'm going to Northwest Iowa to visit my in-laws and maybe play some golf.

Suzanne Kestel: I'm packing to move.

Adria Downey: Working.
Yogi Muramatsu: Going to Des Moines.

Joe Meyers: Going to Des Moines
Gorden Anderson: I will probably be working.

Tom Bordenaro: Nothing but sleep.

Ken McAlpine: I'll probably watch T.V., eat, and not study.

Junko Sato: Maybe stay home.
Travis Patterson: I'm working.

What are your thoughts on the proposal before the state legislator of reducing community college tuition by five percent?

By Lori Burkhead
Photographer

JANE MCGRIFF
BOONE, IOWA

It may really give the people who want to attend community college an opportunity to afford it who could never before consider it.

BRUCE KELLY
BOONE, IOWA

I am very supportive so it will make it easier for the low income people to get an education.

ANGIE LANSMAN
PERRY, IOWA

I feel that it will be an advantage for the students, but hopefully it won't decrease the quality of education.

LEE MCNAIR
BOONE, IOWA

I support it because Iowa community college rate is high compared to many other states.

JULIE CUNNINGHAM
BOONE, IOWA

I support it because it will give people more of a chance to pursue an education.

COMMENTARY

And how did you cope with the ice storm?

By members of Journalism 120 Class
Justine Martin,
Scot Ostendorf,
Pat Sillik, and
Raquel Zortman

The city of Boone and most of central Iowa received one of the worst ice storms in years this past week. Although the moisture was a welcome sight, the manner in which arrived was not quite as popular.

With ice and sleet accompanied by high winds, many power lines snapped causing widespread electrical outages. Falling tree branches, downed power lines, and treacherous roads made traveling virtually impossible March 7, 1990.

DMACC-Boone Campus, the Boone public schools and most area schools did not conduct classes Thursday, March 8, due to power outages. And although Boone Campus had electricity restored by Friday, much of Boone was still without power. Two Des Moines schools, Drake University and Grand View College, could not yet conduct classes Friday.

With crews from Iowa Electric Light & Power, and the Rural Electric Cooperative still working long hours to restore energy, the Boone Campus mass communications class asked many Boone Campus students, teachers, and staff members how they coped with the recent ice storm and the inconveniences it caused.

Here are their responses:

Tiffany Cornelison: I was undisturbed.

Sandi Johnson: I went out and took pictures.

Karen Wagner: We stayed with friends.

Doris Wickman: We had relatives staying with us.

George Silberhorn: We had the fireplace going, and used flashlights, and propane lanterns.

Martha Ballentine: I didn't have much of a problem.

Bill Bruce: I went out and bought a CD player, and played CD's all night long.

Vicki Sleva: We had a great time.

Sandy Cannon: I had a great time driving with all the stoplights out.

Marla Minney: We needed review time, and school was cancelled.

Chris Mayer: Driving was nerve-racking.

Eric Brendeland: I slept.

David Hampe: Read in candlelight.

Brad Stehr: Scraping my windows was frustrating.

Teresa Becker: We tried to get along, used a gas stove, and read books to my children to keep them entertained.

Jenny Blanshan: I dreamed about seeing Ostie again to show him my spreadsheet.

Jenni Price: Really well. My husband and I played games with my kids; it was just plain relaxing.

Kris Eschllman: I thoroughly enjoyed the storm because I never lost power or heat, and got two days off from work and school.

Mark Whitche: Lit some candles and read some books.

Kurt Hill: Lost most of electricity, and moved in with relatives.

J.B. Slight: Played pool.

Bill Blanshan: I lifted weights.

Here is the scene on one street in Boone following the ice storm March 7, 1990. Numerous branches and power lines snapped because of the weight of the ice. Clean-up efforts started almost immediately, although power outages caused DMACC's Boone, Ankeny, and Urban campuses to close Thursday.

Angle Trotter: Worked and slept.

Deb Smalley: Made fun of people who didn't have electricity.

Suzanne Kestel: I tried to stay warm.

Doug Peterson: I worked in the dark.

Chris Bushore: Dodged trees, and beat Spanky in pool.

Jay Blrks: Taught friends how to play poker.

Corey Evespestad: The electricity was out, so I stayed at a friend's house.

Brian Hood: A friend stayed over.

Shane Kozal: Burnt a lot of candles, and ate all my meals at restaurants.

Bernice Klitt: No electricity, so I stayed at a friend's who had electricity.

Kelli Johnson: Stayed with my boyfriend who had electricity.

Chad West: Didn't lose electricity, so we stayed at home, watched T.V., and fed the cows.

Travis Patterson: I slept.

You may not recognize the name, but you will probably recognize the face. The person you see snapping all the pictures around campus is Lori Burkhead.

Lori is the sole photographer for The Bear Facts.

"I really enjoy photographing anything, everything and everyone," Lori said.

She received her first camera as a Christmas present from her parents at age 11, and has loved photography ever since.

Lori is a 1978 Boone High graduate, and now is a sophomore majoring in liberal arts here at Boone Campus.

Lori just recently landed a job at Boone Today as a part time photographer.

She plans to transfer to Iowa State and major in photo-journalism. After that, she hopes to get a job with a major magazine.

"Life magazine would suit me fine," she chuckled.

"But no matter what my career may hold, I will focus on trying to be a more productive member to my family and society as a whole," she said.

"I really enjoy the small community atmosphere. It is enjoyable to live here at Boone," she said.

Jill Burkhart, journalism instructor, commented, "Lori is a very talented, diligent and dedicated student. I just know her future will be productive and prosperous."

REZOOMERS host guest speaker

By Maggie Stone
Director, Displaced Homemaker's Center

Peg Soderstrum, JTPA representative covering Boone and Story Counties, spoke to the REZOOMERS CLUB Wednesday, March 7.

She explained the Job Training Partnership Act Program as well as the Promise Program, which is the training funding program for persons receiving Aid to Dependent Children.

Each county has an office where you may apply for JTPA assistance. In Boone, you may apply on Monday afternoons or all day Wednesday by contacting Peg at the Job Service office, 718 8th St. An appointment can be made by calling: 432-1948. In Ames, you can meet with Peg at Job Service located at 122 Kellogg Ave. She is there Tuesdays and Thursdays, and can be reached by calling: 232-8432. The location of other county JTPA Offices can be obtained by calling the local Job Service for the area.

Step one for JTPA assistance for schooling is the determination of eligibility for JTPA. When you call for an appointment, you will be asked to bring a number of documents with you to verify your family size, income, etc.

You will also be asked to participate in an intake interview, and to draw up a plan for your education. Depending upon the availability of funding and your particular situation, assistance may be offered toward tuition, books, childcare, and/or transportation.

The Promise Program is offered by the Iowa Department of Human Services to provide financial assistance for training for recipients of the Aid to Dependent Children program.

Depending upon your particular situation, assistance may be offered toward tuition, books, childcare, and/or transportation. Those wishing to participate in Promise should request referral to be made by their ADC worker.

For additional information on these two programs, you may visit with Maggie Stone in the Displaced Homemakers Center in Room 128 Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday each week.

Bears get ready for challenging season

By Brad Foytik
Sportswriter

This season the Bears find themselves with only nine returning lettermen and a record number of freshman (15). Yet the Bears are still expected to challenge for the number one spot in the state.

The Bears are coming off their second best season (40-17) in the last 17 years. This year they hope to pick up where they left off when they go south on their spring trip.

March 17, the Bears will visit Southern Kansas, Southern Missouri, and Northern Oklahoma to play 16 games against some of the areas toughest competition.

Coach John Smith, in the 17th season of coaching believes the schedule is harder this year. The Bears should be very competitive.

Lady Bears face rebuilding season

By Brad Foytik
Sports Writer

This year, the women's softball team is very optimistic in improving their record.

The Lady Bears begin practicing March 5. Their games will be played at the little league park in Boone.

With only eleven players expected to go out and no returners, the Lady Bears are faced with a rebuilding season.

Coach Larry Hughes is optimistic about this year's team. He is disappointed with the turnout, but is pleased with the talent he has.

The Lady Bears' ace on the mound is Lori Ford. Ford, a 1985 Jefferson graduate, finished her high school career with a 45-15 record with only one loss her senior year.

Ford was optimistic when she said, "The season should be fun and we should win a lot of games. We have a young team but a lot of talent."

Ford will also play an important part in developing other pitchers.

Jacque Hughes is the only player out of Boone and in her first year of collegiate softball.

"We need a lot of work, but will have a decent team and a lot of fun," said Jacque.

All the women on the Lady Bears squad are looking forward to starting this year's season. With hard work and a little experience, the Boone Bears softball team should enjoy a prosperous season.

Teacher Feature

Lueth happy with 'highly dedicated' students

JOHN LUTHE

By Mick Kawahara
Staff Writer

John Lueth, who currently teaches micro economics, macro economics, and introduction of business, is the subject of this month's Teacher Feature.

Currently, John commutes from Ames to teach here at Boone Campus. He is working on his Ph.D. in economics at ISU.

John is in his second semester of teaching here, and is apparently enjoying it.

"I am very happy with my highly-dedicated students," he commented.

Pertaining to Boone's business climate, John said Boone has developed alot recently.

"You can see that from the record high enrollment at Boone Campus," he added.

He said Boone needs more development, and should be encouraging small business to locate here.

John grew up in Aweil, Sudan. He joined the army there and ended up as a colonel. Along the way, he also earned degrees in economics, political science, and military science.

He and his wife Trezena have eight children, ages 3 to 16.

In his spare time, you'll find John playing accordion, soccer, swimming, and volleyball.

GRAND VIEW COLLEGE

Our students appreciate the education they're receiving at Grand View. "Grand View is a hands-on college. The professors work with you and relate their knowledge to real life situations. You get a lot of individual attention, and I think that's important in the development of prospective teachers. The internships give students a taste of life in the local schools."

Tom Wilson
Elementary Education major and transfer student
