Students dazzled by hypnotist

by LORI BLUMBERG

He started his show by asking volunteers from the audience to put them under hypnosis and found several in a deep hypnotic state. Wand gave commands for the participants to follow, which was very amusing to watch. Some of the commands were:

- The women were told to act like “macho men” and were asked what their “macho” name was.
- They all went to a horserace and were told to put their ticket in a secure place. Some put their ticket in their pants pocket. Then Wand told them the ticket turned into ice.

Dario Vespested does his impersonation of Jon Bon Jovi at his concert held in the DMACC auditorium Nov. 14.

Hoop Shoot Contest

Dominoes Pizza will once again be sponsoring a hoop shoot contest at halftime of the women's and men's home basketball games. If interested in "shooting," sign up for the drawing when you arrive at the game. ("Stuffed" the box will result in forfeiture of any prizes!) During halftime of each game two names will be drawn to shoot. If your name is drawn, you will start with a lay-up and will win a medium Dominos pizza if the shot is made. You will then shoot from the free throw line for a large pizza in exchange for the medium. If you make that shot, you will then be allowed to shoot from the 3 point circle for two large pizzas. When you miss, you will sit down and receive the last prize you won. So, join us at the exciting Boone Bears' games and win a free pizza!
A chat with two of my friends

by DODI O'LENA
Staff Writer

This past week, I interviewed two DMACC students and here’s what I found out.

Scott Dirks, aka “Skinny Weeny” by his ISU fraternity, is attending DMACC in the Construction Engineering Accounting Specialist program.

He graduated from Sioux City High School in 1981 and attended ISU until 1985, when he dropped out due to his “lost individualism.” He later found himself in DMACC and enrolled at DMACC.

He is enrolled part-time taking six credits with plans to graduate in May, 1991. At that time he hopes to move to Kansas City.

Scott was born in Sioux City 27 years ago and has both a niece and nephew by his twin sister. He has a 22-year-old sister who is single. His nephew by his twin sister. He has a 22-year-old sister who is single. He has worked at Burger King for an average 18- or 19-year-old to go with the evening’s work. Coaches and executives in all professional sports are trying to come up with ways to prevent incidents that this rule is not Or “porting event?

Here are some of his interests:

- Craig thinks the best female singer is Mariah Carey and the best dancer is Madonna. His favorite male singer is Billy Joel and says he can’t wait for his concert.

- His overall opinion on the Middle East crisis is, “We are wasting our time over there because we have our own oil reserves, and no man should have to die for an oil company. We just shouldn’t be there.”

- He further stated that, “Michael Jackson isn’t someone I like, but I can respect for his accomplishments.” Thanks for letting us get to know you a little better!

Phone tutor new here

Does this scenario sound all too familiar? With pencils sharpened and a big pot of coffee on the stove, you are ready to settle down for a long night of studying. But then you open your book and find you do not understand one of the basic concepts you need to know to be able to progress with the evening’s work.

It’s too late to fix your instructor’s notes and have the textbook in front of you. The Learning Center has help for you!

Between 5-8 p.m., Monday through Thursday, DMACC students may call 1-800-363-2127 or 432-7203 with questions on Chemistry for Nurses, Finite Math, Algebra, Basic Math, and English.

Sally Tanner will be available to help with math and science problems, and Jan Larson will handle the English questions.

Art Days Canceled

An Arts Day, planned by the Boone Campus Visual Arts Departments, was canceled due to low response by area high schools.

The night before the big test...

By WADE GODWIN
Staff Writer

Here it is, the night before an exam. You have sat down with the essentials: a soft drink, the TV remote controller, some munchies, and of course your books and notes. It is now 6 p.m.; you are ready to study. By the time you find the station you want, and watch your program it's 6:30. Still the books are closed.

You start to open your book and the phone rings. It's your friends and they want you to come over and party with them. (maybe a card game will break out). You look at the clock, 7 p.m. What the heck, it's early; there's plenty of time to study. (mistake number one never leave the study area. Only a few people will ever come back to study).

Rotaract Club has food and clothing drives
by KAROL J. HICKS Staff Writer
The Rotaract Club held a meeting on Nov. 27 in the Boone Campus Library conference room. A slate of officers was nominated and the election of officers is to be held at the next regular meeting, Wednesday, Dec. 5.

There are people who need warm clothing this winter, so boxes will be placed near entrance doors on both floors for collecting winter coats, boots, scarves, ear muffs, mitten, blankets, or anything else to help needy families keep warm this winter. They will probably be in place through the end of the year. So please bring in your spares, or you could possibly buy a new cap, pair of boots, or staff and donate it. What a way to bring in the new year.

There will also be boxes set up around the school to collect food stuffs, also. Canned good is always collected, but any type of food, not needing refrigeration, is welcome. The last day to donate food is December 11, so please help early to ensure food for families at Christmas.

A new time is set for meetings of Rotaract members this month. Some students showing interest in joining cannot meet on Tuesdays or Thursdays, so the next meeting will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 5, in room #116 (near auditorium entrance) at 1:30 p.m. They hope to see you there.

The library will close at 4:00 p.m. Friday, Dec. 21st. It will reopen on Wednesday, January 2nd.

Students compete for fewer, smaller Pell Grants

(CPS)—Students may find themselves competing for fewer, smaller Pell Grants for the 1991-92 school year, thanks to a possible $145 million shortfall in funding for the program, the U.S. Department of Education has confirmed.

The shortfall, if it occurs, would come as the result of a last-minute funding cut made during the 1991-92 federal budget negotiations, which Congress finished Oct. 27. Legislators approved a $100 increase in the maximum Pell Grant—brining it to $2,400—and initially appropriated $5.3 billion for new grants.

But at the last minute, 2.4% was cut from discretionary programs, including the Pell Grant program.

To save the money, the Education Department, depending on changes in national enrollment and economic conditions when it needs to take action next February, might implement a "linear reduction," said a department official who didn't want to be named.

In plainer terms, about 71,000 students nationwide would have their grants cut by $225. Students who lose $1,122 million in grants would be trimmed by about $100. The cuts wouldn't affect about 2.2 million of the neediest students if because of the $100 increase, would receive bigger grants, the official said.

In all, 3.37 million students would get average grants of $1,495 in 1991-92, down from the 3.44 million students receiving grants averaging $1,504 this year.

"We're talking about a $9 difference," for the students who still get grants, the Education Department official said.

Budget may shut out 300,000 students from loan program

(CPS)—Hundreds of thousands of two-year college students could be shut out of federal student loans next school year under the new budget plan, an education lobbyist warned in an anti-default rules will Cost about "shouldn't have a major effect on mid-November. 300,000 students nationwide their community colleges."

As many as 30,000 four-year college students also could lose their loans next year, he added.

"It's going to have a substantial impact upon poor folks," asserted Stephen Blair of the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools, which represents the private, for-profit institutions in Washington, D.C.

The five-year, $490 billion deficit reduction package, passed by Congress on Oct. 27, slices some $1.7 billion out of the most popular federal student loan program by creating rigid restrictions on schools whose students have high loan default rates.

The congressional action was spurred by concern over high default rates at some education institutions "The 30 days (rule) will hurt the case is being portrayed in that light," replied Barbara Bruegge-

Opponents may be vandalizing new building

W A S H I N G T O N, J. C.
(CPS)—University of Nebraska's Board of Regents, which has resisted calls to divest its investment portfolio of shares in firms that do business in South Africa, may soon reconsider its policy, NU associate vice president for administration James Van Horn told an apartheid awareness panel.

Hale said, "If we're thinking about divestment against apartheid so far in 1990, down from 24 in 1989 and a record 40 in 1987, the Investor Responsibility Research Center reported Nov. 6.

Student charges racism led to his expulsion

D UR H AM, N. H.
(CPS)—University of New Hampshire basketball player Antonio Steadman accused UNH officials of racism Nov. 7 for expelling him after finding him guilty of beating and sexually assaulting a UNH woman in his dorm room.

John E. Lyons, Jr., Steadman's attorney, said the assault never took place, that UNH's Conduct Board ignored evidence, and that officials were prone to punish Steadman because he is black and his victim is white.

"I find it extremely unfortunate that the case is being portrayed in that light," replied Barbara Bruegge-

Lady Bears play hard but fall to 0-3

by CURT BLASKEY
Sports Writer

The Lady Bears, with a record of 0-3 at presstime, are looking to improve throughout the season. (It’s important to note that most of the players are making the transition from 6 on 6, to 5 on 5 play.)

The Lady Bears started the 1990-91 season November 14 with a hard fought loss to North Iowa Area Community College, 94-59. The score might not have looked like a close game, but, according to Coach Dick Criner, he feels his players will only get better as the season goes on.

Terrance Paige goes up and makes two points for the Bears.
