Homecoming planned by PBL

by DODI O'LENA
Staff Writer
Boone Campus held its Homecoming Week Feb. 11-16. The event was coordinated by Phi Beta Lambda (PBL) and sponsored by Student Action Board (SAB).

Some activities for the week included a pudding eating contest, bake sale and dress-up days. The pudding eating contest was held in the lounge Thursday, Feb. 14. The Bears’ men’s and women’s basketball teams were involved. The girls were blindfolded and had to feed the guys, who had their hands tied behind their back!

Another activity Feb. 14 was the PBL bake sale. There was also a staff baby picture contest, where the Saturday pictures were displayed in the glass case just outside of the main office. Anyone was able to participate in the guessing game.

For Homecoming Week, PBL put a little extra style into each day. Tying behind their backs! The ten candidates were announced Friday, Feb. 15, and the king and queen were picked at the dance that Saturday.

Duanna Vinchattle, PBL president, and Shirley Fitch, PBL’s SAB representative, who co-chaired the event, personally invited the faculty members and staff by sending them invitations. The parents of the Bear’s basketball teams were also invited.

Tuesday was “dress down day,” Wednesday was “sweats day,” Thursday was “sweats day,” and Friday was “blue and white day” or “DMACC day.”

PBL was also busy decorating, both in the campus lounge area, and at Elk’s Lodge, where the dance was held Saturday, Feb. 16, from 8-12 p.m. Tickets were $2 if purchased in advance or $2.50 if purchased at the door.

Homecoming king and queen candidates were nominated all week. Those nominated had to be classified a sophomore, or have 32 credit hours. The ten candidates were announced Friday, Feb. 15, and the king and queen were picked at the dance Saturday.

Chad Wagaman, Boone Campus student and Bears baseball player, hurrles to class on a recent chilly frost-covered morning. Boone Campus was a beautiful winter scene during much of January with the snow and frost-covered trees and evergreens.

Rotaract welcomes international students

By KAROL HICKS
Editor-In-Chief
Rotaract members will act as a welcoming committee for a dinner planned for Monday, Feb. 25. The dinner is sponsored by the Rotary Club of Boone, and is for all international students and their spouses.

This dinner is an annual event which the Rotary Club is catering for the enjoyment of international students, faculty, Rotary Club members, and the Rotaract Club here on Boone Campus.

Lee McNair, who advises the Rotaract Club, is also a Rotary Club member as well as faculty. He mentioned that the dinner would be held in the student lounge at 6 p.m. and encourages all who are invited to fill out the registration forms sent to them.

Bomb scares cause a stir

by KAROL HICKS
Editor-In-Chief

It doesn’t seem like two weeks have passed since the call came in, which sent everyone scurrying for their cars. I, for one, had not entered the building yet when a huge mass of authorities, trying to locate the alleged bomb, immediately notified the authorities. The young gals try to figure which one of the “jocks” in school placed the call, and then there’s the rest of us who cannot even Figure which one of the “jocks” in school placed the call, and then there’s the rest of us who cannot even Executive Dean, Kriss Philips, is: 1. Get as much information from the caller as possible, trying to locate the alleged bomb. 2. Immediately notify the authorities. 3. Evacuate the building in as orderly a fashion as possible, under the circumstances.”

Phillips also added, “I’ve been in contact with the police every day, and they assure me that a thorough investigation is being conducted. This is a serious situation, and when the caller is apprehended, we will prosecute,” he added. No figures were available as to the number of students who never returned on Friday, but in Dr. Taylor’s 11:15 class, over half of the students started their weekend early. Most of us are serious students and resent the loss of two days of classes. We now need to find a way to make up that lost class-time.

So many people react to these crises in predictable manner; the young guys see it as an unexpected holiday from classes, the young gals try to figure which one of the “jocks” in school placed the call, and then there’s the rest of us who cannot even contemplate anyone doing this for a joke, and take it to heart. First we get frightened, and then we get angry at the cause of our fright.

The question of “why?” seems to go unanswered, but when caught, the man placing the calls will surely be punished. Maybe there is justice in the world after all.

Enrollment up again

by DODI O'LENA
Staff Writer
As of Jan. 30, 1991, DMACC Campus enrollment totalled 996 students, which reflected 10,077 credits. That is a 9.6% increase over last year’s spring semester.

The Dean feels that DMACC offers good quality programs and is real pleased with the teaching staff.

Feelings expressed after bomb threats

by LORI BLUMBERG
Staff Writer

When the fire alarm sounded in the morning of Wed., Feb. 6, 1991 a typical first reaction was probably, "Oh, just another fire drill!" But when the fire drill turned out to be a "bomb threat" there were many reactions. Several students and faculty were asked this question, "What was your first reaction to the bomb threat?" Here are their responses:

Tech Rice - I thought it was a joke because of all the talk of terrorism. Laurie Runyan - Surprised, kind of worried because people were standing so close to the building. Ralene Lewis - I just kind of laughed. Mike Schlicht - I think it was stupid for someone to call in a prank threat.

Dennis Eg - It kind of frightened me a little bit.

Chandria Russell - It was just a joke to get out of school. John Sindahl - No school. Curt Murl - The scuds are coming.

Carmen Mead - In Boone? Scary! John Sindahl - Let's go have a beer. Mariela King - I didn't feel very secure to come to school the next day and I felt my security was violated. Karen Wagner - Shocked and to get out of the building. Lee McNair - I first thought it was an unannounced fire drill, then I felt disbelieve after hearing it was a bomb threat. Also thought the students didn't move fast enough or take it seriously enough. Bob Taylor - I believed it and thought that someone was disturbed. Bob Taylor - The bomb scare brought the war closer to home. Kathy Kirkegaard - It didn't surprise me a bit. It was my first thought when I heard the intercom.

Duke Burrell - Can't be, not in Boone, Iowa. Rich Finessed - You're not kidding me!!

(A second bomb threat by phone occurred Friday, Feb. 8, after this story was written.)

Early Bird registration

All two-year college transfer students admitted to UNI by March 29, 1991, for summer or fall term, 1991, will be invited to come to UNI campus to register for summer and/or fall classes.

The three days covering transfer students will be Wednesday, April 24, Thursday, April 25, or Friday, April 26.

According to Christie Kangas, Assistant Director/Transfer Relations, these will be one day programs consisting of department advising and class registration. The main advantage of registering in April is that students will have the best possible selections of fall classes at that time.

Emphasis, Kangas adds, is made that students must be admitted by March 29 in order to be eligible to participate. Those admitted for summer and fall term after March 29 will be invited to register for classes during the summer.

Only those invited to register in April will be permitted to register at that time. Students will receive the invitations for the first week of April assigning them to a specific day, and will be expected to return an enclosed reply card to reserve their time.

Students want switch
ALBANY, N.Y. (CPS)—The student government at the State University of New York at Albany has resolved to use the term "womyn" whenever it refers to its own women's issues coordinator in its written material.

Advocates of the measure maintained the spelling "womyn" is "a less sexist term" than the accepted spelling "women," the New York Student Leader reported.

Bush asks collegians to get behind the war effort
(CPS)—Apparentlly hoping to defuse a gathering anti-war movement on the nation's campuses, President Bush sent an unusual letter to some of the country's 14 million college students Jan. 12, asking them to support his stand against Saddam Hussein.

Bush also promised to try to resolve the crisis peacefully.

"The president felt it was important to communicate directly with them," Bush press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said of the letter to students, adding that many students have friends in the Gulf region.

Untold numbers of the soldiers now in the region, of course, were themselves students just a few weeks ago.

In his two-page letter sent to about 460 college publications, Bush explained his policy rationale.

"If armed men invaded a home in this country, killed those in their way, stole what they wanted and then announced the house was now theirs—no one would hesitate about what must be done," he wrote.

"And that is why we cannot hesitate about what must be done halfway around the world in Kuwait," Bush said. "The facts are clear. The choice unambiguous. Right vs. wrong."

"We thought it was pretty much a joke," said Hideki Torneika, associate editor of the University of Washington's paper, the Daily. The editors received the letter by fax machine Jan. 8 and ran it the next day as a guest opinion with the headline "Words Of Wonder From Mr. Bush." An accompanying editorial cartoon of the President called it "bullshit."

Other editors just returning from winter break, like those at the University of Notre Dame and Oberlin College, said they hadn't yet finalized plans on how to run the letter. "I was surprised at first," said Kelley Tuthill, news editor for Notre Dame's The Observer. "But he does have to be accountable to us."

"It was condescending at some points," Tuthill continued, referring to Bush's explanation on "right vs. wrong."

"Students know what's going on."

"If there's one place on the homefront Bush has to worry about, it's college campuses," added Eric Pfaner, editor of the Daily Nebraska, the paper at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"I guess we're not on Bush's most-important list," said Kay Hilton, editor of the Sidelines, the student paper at Middle Tennessee State University, which didn't get a letter. Hilton described campus reaction to the crisis as "pretty mixed."

In the letter, Bush also recalled his days as a teenage combat pilot in World War II.

The president also saluted the 370,000 American troops now in the Gulf as "young men and women who are putting their lives on hold in order to stand for peace."

Creative Group Names
At Columbia University, collegians who wanted to demonstrate their support of U.S. policy in the Middle East formed a group called "Students Mobilized Against Saddam Hussein," or SMASH.

Eastern Michigan University students opposed to the war effort have dubbed themselves Student Organization for Peace, and pronounce the acronym as "SOUP."

DMACC plays well but comes up short

by CURT BLASKY
and BRIAN VERHELST
Staff Writers

The DMACC Bears are nearing the end of the season and are still searching for their second win. According to Coach Hughes the players are working real hard at practice and in games but seem to come up a bit short at the end.

After coming off a hard fought loss to Iowa Falls on January 21st, the Bears were back in action on January 23rd, the 28th, and the 30th in search for victory number two and at present times these are the only games we have available.

On January 23rd, DMACC squared off against Iowa Western of Council Bluffs the final score was Iowa Western 120 DMACC 89.

Leading scorers for the Bears were Chad Stalzer with 25 pts., J.B. Slight finished with 20 pts., and Al Scaglione ended the game with 18 pts. Leading rebounders were Stalzer with nine boards and Slight finished with eight.

On January 28th, DMACC traveled to Clarinda to face Indian Hills but even though the Bears lost 123-79, the statistics were amazing.

Leading scorers for the Bears were Chad Stalzer with 33 pts., J.B. Slight chipped in 29 pts., and Al Scaglione finished with 23 pts. Leading rebounders were Stalzer with 10, Slight pulled down eight, and Reggie Martin had seven boards.

On January 30th, DMACC entertained Southwestern of Creston but illness and injury limited the Bears to only seven players. The final score was Southwestern 96 DMACC 76.

Chad Stalzer once again led the way for the Bears with 34 pts., Terrance Paige chipped in 27, and J.B. Slight finished with 24. Stalzer also had a great rebounding game with 12 boards and Jim Parrish finished with five.

Even though the season is rapidly coming to an end we all know that the Bears are going to get that second win. So lets continue to show our support at the home games.

Like the Bears, the Lady Bears season is almost over and since we have not covered very much of their games this season, this article will feature the leading scorers, team offensive and defensive averages.

First of all for the leading scorers: Valerie Camp leads the Lady Bears with 238 total points, Karla Lilly has 172 points, and Jennifer Reedholm is the third leading scorer with 97 points.

The Lady Bears are averaging 56 points a game, and giving up 73 points a game.

Candy Bunkofski is averaging two blocked shots a game. The three wins this season have come against Iowa Falls twice and Faith Baptist once.

Like we said for the Bears, lets continue to show our support for the Lady Bears for the rest of the season.

Turnouts for Tuesday and Thursday open gym have been quite successful so far this year. There have been 13 to 20 people attending. They either can play basketball or lift weights.

DMACC students and faculty are invited to open gym (no cost) Tuesdays and Thursday from 5:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

It is also opened on Sunday for co-ed volleyball. There are two games playing at the same time.

Mark Furst, DMACC’s intramural director, said that the volleyball and open gym give people a break from school pressure.

Furst will also be in charge of this year’s “Spring Fling,” which will be held in April. He hopes that it will be a great success.

Activities being planned include tug-of-war, free throw contest, sand volleyball, miniature golf, softball and others.

Furst is interested in any suggestions from anyone and will try to help out in any way.

Open Gym Hours

Open hours at the Boone Campus gym are Tuesday and Thursday, 5:30-9 p.m., and Sunday, 5-8 p.m.
Japan Week at Boone Campus
Activities for DMACC’s Japan Week will be held at Boone Campus Monday, April 1, according to Bruce Kelly, organizer. Here is a tentative agenda:
10:10 a.m.—Environmental Issues; class presentation; Shintro Shiina: Room 209.
11:15 a.m.—Time Management with dual income families; Japan v. the United States; Sachiko Nonomura: Campus Little Theater.
12:30 p.m.—Luncheon; Boone Country Club; community leaders, selected faculty and students invited; vocal presentation by Tonoe Hosaka at the beginning of the luncheon. About 1:30 p.m.—Dignitaries return to Ankeny Campus.

Art class tours DM gallery
by ABBY ANDERSON
Guest Writer
Collecting and appreciating fine art requires a certain amount of education and experience. Twenty-five students in Art 101 (Art Appreciation) toured Femette’s Gallery Friday, Feb. 8 to see first hand why some works of art are more desirable than others.
Femette’s Gallery has been in the Des Moines area for eleven years. Here art lovers can find works to please every taste as well as prices from $65 to $6,500. President of the gallery, said wildlife artist, Jesse Barnes is the most popular artist on display. Barnes’ work is characterized by his use of warm, glowing light illuminating country scenes. His private signature is a small owl that is found in some portion of every work. Jiang, an artist from the Yunnan province of southern China, has proved very popular in the U.S. With a distinct oriental flavor, Jiang’s work vibrates with jewel-tone colors. Jiang’s popularity has risen rapidly in a very short time, according to Smith.

As students from DMACC toured the gallery they were able to see first hand the different types of limited editions available to the collector. Serigraphs, etchings, lithographs, and original works all have different values. Signed, numbered, limited editions will always have more value than the photographic copies of the same work, Smith said. She added, “Copies actually are posters with no prospect of ever increasing in value. Limited editions nearly always increase in value as they are approved by the artist who supervises their production.”

Most of the Art 101 students found a favorite artist as they toured the gallery.
