Funds appropriated specifically for distribution under this chapter shall be allocated to the area schools established under chapter 280A in the manner provided in this chapter. 1. "Area school" means an area school under section 280A.2, subsection 10, Code 1989, for purposes of calculations based on fiscal years occurring before July 1, 1990; for other purposes, "area school" means a community college under section 280A.2, subsection 1.
2. "Area school allowable growth for an instructional cost center" is a dollar amount determined by the department of management by multiplying the state average cost per contact hour for that cost center for a base year times the state percent of growth for the budget year.
3. "Base year" means base year as defined in section 257.2.
4. "Budget year" means budget year as defined in section 257.2.
5. "Contact hour" means fifty minutes of contact between an instructor and students in a scheduled course offering for which students are registered.

The total contact hours for an area school in a cost center for a budget year for purposes of determining state general aid under this chapter are the average of the total contact hours offered by the area school in that cost center for the base year and the two fiscal years preceding the base year. However, commencing July 1, 1992, total contact hours in a cost center for a budget year shall be the average of the total contact hours offered by the area school in that cost center for the base year and the fiscal year preceding the base year.

6. "Contact hour eligible for general aid" is a contact hour as provided in subsection 1 except for the contact hours of nonresident students; contact hours of students in avocational or recreational programs; and contact hours of students in courses or programs the direct operational costs of which are entirely paid by federal, state, or other governmental agencies, or private subsidy, or both.

The standards for the programs shall encompass, but are not limited to, the following general areas:

a. The institutional input. This may include, but is not limited to, the organization of human, financial, and physical resources into educational and service programs to accomplish the community colleges' purposes, faculty and staff, financial practices, buildings, grounds, maintenance and equipment, governance, and the characteristics of educational and service programs, measures of viability, rigor of major degree programs, breadth of supporting academic programs such as general education and developmental education, breadth of supporting services for students with special needs such as curriculum and instructional modification, quality of instruction, and other related aspects of the community college mission.

b. The institutional outcomes. This may include, but is not limited to, measures of student academic achievement, student development, placement, occupational success, faculty accomplishments, and the results of service initiatives to special constituencies. This shall include an annual report on the number of students with disabilities who apply, who are enrolled, and who complete programs offered at each community college.

c. Standards for administration, qualifications and assignment of faculty and staff, curriculum, requirements for awarding of diplomas, certificates, and associate degrees, guidance and counseling, support services for students with special education needs, instruction, instructional materials, and library.

Standards developed shall include a provision that the standard academic work load for an instructor in arts and science courses shall be fifteen credit hours per school term, and the maximum academic work load for any instructor shall be sixteen credit hours per school term, for classes taught during the normal school day. The total work load for such instructors shall not exceed the equivalent of eighteen credit hours per school term.

Standards developed shall include provisions requiring equal access in recruitment, enrollment, and placement activities for students with special education needs. The provisions shall include a requirement that students with special education needs shall receive instruction in the least restrictive environment with access to the full range of program offerings at a college, through, but not limited to, adaptation of curriculum, instruction, equipment, facilities, career guidance, and counseling services.

280A.49 Staff development program.

In order to promote excellence in teaching at the community colleges and to assist the staffs of the community colleges to accomplish the policy of the state of Iowa as specified in section 280A.1, the community college staff development program is established. The goal of this program is to enhance the quality, effectiveness, and performance of community college staff through staff development activities. Staff development activities may include, but are not limited to, workshops, conferences, internships, enrollment in work-related courses, special projects related to job performance, development of methods and strategies for meeting the needs of students with special needs and integrating those students into regular instructional programs, research projects, performance-based pay plans, and curriculum planning and development. Any items of a staff development plan which are mandatory items of bargaining under chapter 20 shall be negotiated with the appropriate certified bargaining agent. For the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1992, and succeeding fiscal years, each community college that meets the requirements of this section is eligible to receive moneys from the staff development account for the implementation of a staff development plan.

90 Acts, ch 1253, §51

NEW section

280A.50 Staff development account.

The department of education shall provide for the establishment of a staff development account in the office of treasurer of state for purposes of providing moneys to community colleges for staff development. There is appropriated from the general fund of the state to the department of education on July 1 of each fiscal year beginning July 1, 1992, for crediting to the staff development account for each budget year an amount equal to an amount which is five-tenths of one percent of the total state general aid generated under chapter 286A for all community colleges during the base year. In the fiscal years succeeding June 30, 1993, an additional five-tenths of one percent shall be added to the percent multiplier, used to determine the appropriation in this section, until that percent multiplier reaches four percent. Once the percent multiplier has reached the four percent level, it shall remain at that level for purposes of calculating the amount to be appropriated in succeeding fiscal years. Moneys appropriated by the general assembly to the department of education for the purpose of the staff development program shall be paid to community colleges upon approval by the department of education of an application submitted by a community college. Funds shall be distributed to a community college based upon the proportion that a college's state general aid paid for the base year bears to the total state general aid paid that year to all community colleges.

Moneys paid to a community college shall be used to cover the direct costs of staff development activities. These costs may include payment of salary and fringe benefits for plan participants, fees for consultants and workshop presenters, transportation costs, tuition costs, costs of instructional materials, and other costs directly related to staff development activities.

The department of education shall review each plan and its budget, and notify the department of management of the name of each community college with an approved plan.

However, for the school year beginning July 1, 1992, a board of directors may submit a proposed plan and budget not later than January 1, 1992, and the department of education shall notify the community colleges not later than February 15, 1992, whether their plans have been approved by the department. Final approval of budgets for approved staff development plans for that year shall be determined by the department of education not later than February 15, 1992. The department of education shall notify the department of revenue and finance of the amounts of payments to be made to each community college that has an approved plan. Notwithstanding section 8.33, moneys allocated to a community college for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1992, for an approved staff development plan that are not expended for that school year shall not revert to the general fund of the state but may be expended by that community college during the school year beginning July 1, 1993. RATIONALE FOR THE LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

FUNDING

1. Replace Carl Perkins Funds

Rationale: Community colleges have not been funded based on the funding formula. FY 93 funding for community colleges was approximately $18 million under the proposed funding based on students served. Additionally, $1.6 million were cut from Carl Perkins funds. Community colleges continue to grow in all enrollments with special emphasis on enrollments in the special population areas. If these students are not served, they will not become productive citizens and tax payers on the rolls of the state and the federal government. Replacement of the Perkins funds is a necessity and will assist in moving this process forward.

2. Change Referendum Requirement and Fund Iowa Communications Network

Rationale: Removing the required referendum from HF 2485 (1992 Iowa General Assembly) would provide funds to assist the start up of operational costs of the statewide fiberoptics network. Without funding of this nature, many community colleges will not have the necessary funds to implement and operate the system due to the funding formula not being funded and the reduction in Carl Perkins funds along with increased enrollments.

3. Fund Staff Development

Rationale: Changing technologies require community college instructors to update their teaching skills and to expand their personal knowledge of their respective technical teaching areas. The changes in technologies requires up-to-date staff development training. Through this process students will achieve the objective of each of their technical programs and will allow community colleges to keep placing quality students on the job market.

4. IMAGES

Rationale: Community colleges have the largest in-state minority population enrolled in higher education. Community colleges have been on the cutting edge in working with minority youth at the junior high and high school levels, and have encouraged students to enroll in higher education. Funding at the community colleges will increase minority enrollments in higher education and will provide them with close to home quality education at a reduced cost.

5. Salary Improvements

Rationale: During a period of time when the state and regents staff salaries were funded at 7-9%, community college total funding has decreased and has not received any additional funds for community college staff salaries. If the community colleges are to retain quality staff, a proportional share of salary dollars must be allocated to community colleges. As previously mentioned, the community colleges are $18 million below what the funding formula should allocate and $1.8 million below dollars that they should receive for Carl Perkins funds.

6. Funding Formula

Rationale: The community college funding formula over the years has had great difficulty in being funded. Currently, the FY 93 formula was many million dollars below the funding level. The three-year rolling average has a serious impact to colleges in the growth mode. The 20.25 levy has not been increased since the inception of the community colleges. Increasing the levy to 25.25 would assist in meeting the short falls in the funding formula at the community college level.

CODE CHANGES

1. Staff Development

Rationale: Due to the revised spending limitations on staff development funding, a thorough review by the Department of Education and the community colleges should take place to analyze these various sections of the code to see if they are practical due to the change in legislation.

2. Revise 280A.23(15)

Rationale: Similar language has already been passed in HF 2465, section 35, page 28 and has been signed for the Governor. This section allows regents institutions to provide annually a review of the English competencies for their teaching faculty. Inasmuch as this has been approved for one segment of education, it would only seem appropriate that the community colleges should be included as they have fewer foreign faculty than do the regents institutions.

CONCERNS

Rationale: Some vocational-technical schools have been changing to community colleges over the past few years. Those community college students should be allowed the same opportunity for athletic programs as those at other community colleges and at private and regents institutions. Students at community colleges should have the same educational and extracurricular activities as those attending other institutions of higher learning. This helps to eliminate the discrimination between the various forms of higher education in the state of Iowa.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

1. Expand on Manufactures Outreach Program

West Germany and Japan have shown the world the importance of public-private partnerships in nurturing research and development, training and retraining of the work force, and job creation and retention.

Government must become a more active partner in helping our private sector become equipped to compete in the global market. This is the only way that we can assure job creation and job retention in the future.

The Manufacturers Outreach Program Iowa has created must be expanded so that more of our industries can be trained and modernized and given the opportunity to be competitive. More outreach specialists and more resource dollars for technical training should be a high priority.

2. Focus on helping small employers grow in areas of TQM, Just-In-Time and SPC, and etc. training

Small employers account for 80% or more of new job creation in the economy. Rather than look "outside" of our borders for job creation we need to focus on "growing our own" from within the ranks of our existing small businesses. A public-private partnership to bring training of TQM, SPC, Just-In-Time and other proven techniques to employees of small companies will help these companies be more efficient and competitive in the global market, and thus more likely to expand and create new jobs. Community colleges are uniquely qualified and positioned to deliver the training services and to lead the public-private partnership initiative.

3. Public-private seed capital funding

Iowa currently has only one source of seed capital funding for start-up companies with promising products, services or technology. The Iowa Product Development Corporation is funded entirely with state dollars and over the past two years the funding level has dropped from $1.5 million per year to $887,500 per year. These funding levels are totally inadequate. Further, IPDC has become "risk averse," bogged down in bureaucratic red tape, and too politically motivated in its decision making processes.

Entrepreneurs with promising product ideas end up leaving the state or "starved out" because of the bureaucracy. A public-private seed capital fund controlled by a private sector board and immune from political pressures is needed to insure that worthy projects get funded and stay and grow in Iowa.

Community college districts should be used to form 15 regional seed capital funds. Private investors should be given proper tax incentives to "invest in Iowa" and special boards made up of community college board members and private sector investors should be created to make investment decisions for that region.

4. Focus student training programs on future growth areas in high tech programs

Time and care should be given to researching the potential future growth areas in high technology and then our community college network should collaborate on delivering the technical training statewide, with various community colleges emphasizing different specialties.

As a state, we must recognize that our population density, demographics and limited resources require that we think and act collaboratively rather than competitively.

High technology training programs based on potential future growth areas is "high risk," even when careful research has been conducted. Therefore, the risk can be minimized by spreading the risk throughout the community college network.

5. Provide additional funds for retraining

Retooling the work force with new skills and continuing education is a reality. The demand for retraining workers is growing rapidly and will continue in the foreseeable future.

More dollars need to be committed to this area especially since the Manufacturers Outreach Program will identify and create more demand for the community colleges job retraining programs.

However, commencing July 1, 1992, total contact hours in a cost center for a budget year shall be the average of the total contact hours offered by the area school in that cost center for the base year and the fiscal year preceding the base year.

6. "Contact hour eligible for general aid" is a contact hour as provided in subsection 1 except for the contact hours of nonresident students; contact hours of students in avocational or recreational programs; and contact hours of students in courses or programs the direct operational costs of which are entirely paid by federal, state, or other governmental agencies, or private subsidy, or both.

7. "Instructional cost center" means one of the following areas of course offerings of the area schools:

- a. Arts and sciences cost center.
