FROM THE Dean's Desk

As I become reflective upon our approaching the mid-semester, I find I can say this year is progressing very well. I have recently examined your college entrance test, and I find as a group you did well.

On the activity side of the ledger, the annual staff is hard at work; the basketball team is starting practice, the United Nations Day Committee planned a fine program, the Future Teachers Club is hard at work, our J-Honors Club has been named, the Colbea better or known to the community of Boone and some of you will forget for quite sometime the way in which the committee for our fall picnic handled the chili supper.

I have noticed some new activities in "The Dungeon"—checkers and checkers.

I've been talking with my sociology classes, especially with the fact that so many students are doing outside reading. All of this is good, for it helps in developing a healthy "corporate" for the Boone Junior College.

LETTER TO STUDENTS

This is a letter we received from The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis:

Dear Editor:
The March of Dimes wants to finish the fight against polio. To do this, we must have your help—just as we had it in reaching the present hopeful position. It's hopeful because final victory is now in sight. Thank you to the Salk vaccine, which March of Dimes funds helped finance. Tomorrow's children however, still suffer from this crippling disease. We know you would not want us to quit—until these youngsters have had a chance to run and play again; a chance to grow up as strong and useful citizens for the years ahead. We know that an informed public will respond to this need, as it has responded so generously before.

On the role of your publications: In spreading this message during the 1957 March of Dimes campaign, January 2-31.
