A Visitor from the Land of India

October 23rd

Boone J. C. is fortunate in obtaining a very interesting personality for a speaking engagement for our United Nations festivities October 23rd.

Mr. Bhagwat Prasad Singh, from India, and recently from the United States, has accepted an invitation to visit our school and talk on “India-American Relations.”

Mr. Singh received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Patna University, Patna, Bihar, India (1930), and the Master of Arts degree in Journalism from Iowa University in 1949. He has taught in junior and senior high schools in his native India, and also worked with several newspapers prior to his departure to the U. S. A. in 1947.

Mr. Singh has written for several Indian newspapers since arriving and was later a research assistant at the Information Service of the Embassy of India in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Singh is presently doing graduate work at Iowa U. and teaches classes on India while collecting material for a book entitled, “What We Learn from Americans.”

We are all looking forward to his visit and know we will hear some interesting information on India.

Student Organizations

One of several fine student organizations in B. J. C. is the liberal arts group which was started last semester to promote an interest among the students pursuing the ‘Artes Liberale’ to help all students understand and appreciate the values and creative principles of our cultural heritage.

In cooperation with the Adult Evening School this group sponsors a classic film series which will be starting soon. Don’t fail to attend.

Another group organized last year was the pre-engineering students’ association. The purpose of this group is to promote interest and appreciation of the potentials of an engineering career.

Last year this group had many ambitious students who helped make this a worthwhile project. This year, however, does not show the promise of last year. A meeting was scheduled several weeks ago and absolutely no one attended. As you can see, this attendance can be improved.

Education makes a people easy to lead, but difficult to govern, but impossible to enslave.

—Lord Brougham.

Birth of a Newspaper

After days of locked doors, brainstorming, policy-making, Madison Avenue sessions, a towering accomplishment looms over B. J. C.—the all-new, glossy, ‘Bear Facts’ is born.

The fledgling staff emerges from the journalistic delivery room mopping rivers of perspiration from the visors of their green eye-shades. The decision they’ve just made has drained the energy from their once virile bodies.

The question was, “Shall we continue our faintly duplicated and hastily stamped news sheet or shall we begin a commercially printed newspaper supported by advertising?” Hours of debate and hand-to-hand combat followed the statement of this question and finally a scholarly shout arose from every throat, “Uh, huh. We should oughta print our paper.”

Progressives Crush Opposition Party

Several weeks ago you might have noticed a great deal of wall-papering being done in the halls of the J.C. building. This work done by student candidates and their friends was the biggest share of campaigning done for this year’s student body offices.

If you have studied the designs on this wallpaper you might have distinguished figures such as: Edna Pritchard and Rich Byerly for president; Don Smith and Dave Dearing for vice-president; Vesta Jo Woodvine and Jay Peterson for secretary; and Mervin Eastberg and Jack Robertson as candidates for the office of treasurer.

This paperhanging and hornblowing contest culminated (ended) in an election on Wednesday, September 25th.

The winners, all of the Progressive Collegiate Party, were Edna, Dave, Vesta, and Jack.

In a statement to the student body Mrs. Pritchard thanked them for their support and promised to try to effect better parking facilities and improved social events for Boone J. C.

A pessimist is one who makes difficulties of his opportunities; an optimist is one who makes opportunities of his difficulties.

—Vice-Admiral Mansell, R. N.
Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I have just finished visiting your fine J.C. and I wish to tell you how much I enjoyed it.

I think it is a novel idea to have water flowing from your drinking fountains at just the right temperature for shaving. I have not heard of any other J.C. with this much imagination.

I also thought your knee-high blackboards are a good idea in case anyone gets tired of standing he can sit down and write.

I hope I will be able to return soon.

Percival Titius Sebastian.

Plan Improvements for J. C. Library

It won't be too long before the students of Boone J. C. will be seeing the college library get a major overhaul.

One plan, to be carried out later, calls for the hall adjacent to the library to be divided into three separate study enclosures. There is also to be shelving installed along the west wall and northeast corner which will provide space for approximately 1,550 books and periodicals.

Three rectangular tables are to be located parallel to the book shelves and a circular table will be placed in the northeast corner of the library. Four additional lounge chairs will also be installed.

A new charge desk, card catalog, and a book truck complete the major improvements.

With these improvements everyone can better enjoy the multitudinous bliss found only in a library, as we all know (SIGH).

Harmonizing Tones

On Tuesday nights, in the speech room at Boone Junior College, it is quite possible to hear four very lovely, harmonious voices emanating (coming) from four enthusiastic students. The voices belong to Pat Saylor (star of the performance), Vesta Jo Woodvine, Dean Dittmer, and Dan Corrick. Incidentally (meaning by the way) for all and any future performances, the mixed quartet plans to have Dan Siegler, student at Boone High School, act as the accompanist.

On Tuesday nights these students hold a short meeting, not to practice, but to simply blend their voices in wonderful tones; pleasurable to all.

Open Letter to Roy Acuff

Dear Roy,

Alas and alack, I have bad news for you. Your fine hillbilly band has long been the best, but I'm afraid you will be seriously challenged this year by the B. J. C. Hillbilly Band.

Their leader, Lawrence Frederick, says there are seven or eight members already clamoring to play their first engagement (as yet unannounced). Mr. Frederick is also leaving the door open for anyone who can beg, borrow, or invent an instrument, to join his esteemed orchestral group.

So, Roy, if you decide to turn in your musician's card, I don't blame you, for after all there is room for only one at the top.

'Hank' Snow.

Birth of a Newspaper

Money Needed

After our organization was complete, Sunstrom-Miller Press informed the staff that it would be necessary to pay money for printing the glossy 'Bear Facts.' Still reeling from this revelation, the advertising manager appointed a high-powered sales force of B. J. C.'s best: Vesta Jo Woodvine, Enid Anderson, 'Sandy' Chance, Dave Dearinger, Reuben Kristianson, and Sherwood Selim. Their motto is: "You don't wanta buy an ad, do you?"

A Toast

That completes the story of the birth of a newspaper and although we are swept away by grandiose visions of 'Bear Facts' in the future, we are still cognizant that if it weren't for Joyce Larson, Pat Saylor, and the other students responsible for the old 'Bear Facts,' this paper wouldn't be here today. To these founders of our newspaper, the college administration, faculty members, student body, and advertisers who have faith in us, we dedicate this issue of 'Bear Facts.'

Both Pritchards Hold F. T. A. Offices

Last spring at the Southwest Regional F. T. A. meeting at Simpson College, Edna Pritchard was elected president for this year.

Edna, our newly elected student body president, will have charge of all the regional meetings this year. The first meeting coming up is the fall conference at Creston College, Monday, October 21st. All the Delta Tau members are going to the conference to let Edna know they're behind her all the way.

In the election for the presidency for the local chapter of the Delta Tau, Don Pritchard was elected.

Both Edna and Don are very capable people, and we wish them success in their new positions.
